Phone Workers' Leader Expects "Major Break"

HOPES FOR END OF U.S.-RUSSIAN TENSION RISE

Marshall Tells Cabinet Firm Stand Taken May Cause Soviet Back-Down.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 28 — American hopes for an easing in U. S.-Soviet tensions were buoyed today by reports that Secretary of State Marshall believes this country's firmness on European peace treaty issues may lead Russia to give ground.

Marshall's view was laid before congressional leaders at a White House conference in advance of his radio report to the nation at 8:30 p. m. tonight on the results of the Moscow foreign ministers conference.

Some of those who attended the two-hour session with the President and his cabinet officer last night said they came away with the impression that Marshall believes the unbending attitude he displayed at the Big Four meeting already has had the effect of making the Russians less sure of themselves in their demands affecting the future peace of Europe.

The soldier-diplomat was said to have counseled patience with the Soviets in the hope that as they digest the American position in the next few months, they may go to London for the next foreign ministers huddle in November more amendable to suggestions from their wartime allies on vital points involved in proposed Austrian and German peace treaties.

For this reason, Marshall was said to have told the congressional leaders he believes it is too early now for this country to decide whether it should take the unsettled issues involving those treaties to the United Nations general asembly for an airing.

The secretary was said to have related that proposed American action to bulwark Greece and Turkey against Communism appeared to have made a profound impression on the Russian people and their leaders, despite the fact that this program was kept out of the official discussions at the Moscow conference.

Covering only the Moscow conference in his discussions, the secretary was reported to have told the legislative leaders that he made the American position clear in an hour and a half talk with Premier Stalin before he left Moscow.

NEW YORK, April 28—When Secretary of State George C. Marshall discusses the recently concluded Moscow conference of foreign ministers at 8:30 tonight, his talk is to be relayed from Washington by the networks. Regular programs for the half-hour are being cancelled.

AKRON TRANSPORT TIED UP BY STRIKE

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., April 8—All public transportation with the exception of taxicabs was tied up in this rubber capital of 245,000 today by a strike of 142 AFL mechanics at the Akron Transportation Co.

The mechanics, members of the International Association of Machinists, threw pickets around ATC shops at 4 a. m. after rejecting a company-offered wage increase of more than seven cents hourly.

More residents were caught by surprise as it generally had been expected that a last-minute settlement would be reached as in the case of a driver dispute a month ago.

The ATC operates only buses, streetcars having been abandoned several months ago.

W. H. Wright, president of the CIO-Transport Workers Union, said none of the company's 500 drivers would pass picket lines.

"It would be foolish," Wright said, "to attempt to operate unserviced buses," adding that the mechanics had respected picket lines of drivers a year ago when a strike of the CIO operators paralyzed local service for one week.

Members of the machinists' union have demanded a 16-cent hourly pay hike and "other concessions" in a contract dispute with the ATC, DeMoss said. Current wages received by mechanics were not disclosed.

Mansfield Grand Prize Winner In Fire Waste Contest

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 28—By cutting its five-year average fire loss nearly 80 per cent, Mansfield, O., was announced as grand prize winner today on the 1946 fire waste contest.

Chicago won first place among cities of more than 500,000 population with other classes won by: Cincinnati 250,000 to 500,000; Tulsa 100,000 to 250,000; Newton, Mass., 50,000 to 100,000 and Beatrice, Neb., under 20,000.

Arch N. Booth, mangaer of the United States Chamber of Commerce, made the presentation of awards at a "shop talk," session preceding the formal opening tomorrow of the Chamber's 35th annual meeting.

Booth said the judges estimated that the six cities which won plaques saved approximately 100 lives, $22,000,000 worth of property and two schools from being burned.

Mansfield, competing among cities in the 20,000 to 50,000 bracket, cut its fire losses from a five year average of $4.62 a person to 86 cents a person last year, Booth said. He added that the national average showed a gain of 30 per cent.

TELEPHONE WORKERS SET PROTEST DEMONSTRATION

Reply to Statement They Will Surrender Like "Whipped Pups".

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 28 — A huge mass picketing demonstration was scheduled today by the Ohio Federation of Telephone Workers protesting an alleged statement by an Ohio Bell Telephone Co. official that union members would return to work "on their knees like whipped puppies."

George Knable, local strike director, told some 3,000 unionists at a meeting yesterday that an unnamed company official had said: "Give them (the strikers) until Monday; they'll be back in on their knees like whipped puppies."

In answer to the reported statement, Knable asked strikers to turn out "more pickets than the company ever saw before" in a demonstration before the Ohio Bell central office here today.

Sam Sponseller, regional CIO director, pledged the financial, moral "and physical, if necessary," support to all CIO union groups in the Cleveland region to the telephone strikers, but did not elaborate upon his pledge.

Rev. Richard Deters, English instructor at John Carroll university, also told the assembled federation members that they had "run head on into one of the most powerful concentrations of power in the country."

HIKED WORKERS NOW 1,000,000

3 Weekend Agreements Swell Total of Laborers Winning Raises.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 28—Three new wage settlements announced over the weekend brought to nearly 1,000,000 the number of workers in the steel, automobile and electrical industries who won wage increases during April.

Settlements boosting hourly wages approximately 15 cents when vacation pay and other benefits are included were announced Saturday by General Electric Co., Chrysler Corp., and Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp.

This wage pattern developed during a month that saw these four other major developments in the labor and economic field: (1) initial congressional action on labor legislation; (2) an appeal from the administration to stem the rise of prices; (3) a 6-day walkout of 400,000 mine workers called in memory of 111 mine dead in the Centralia, Ill., disaster, a stoppage that lengthened to two weeks for most mines, and (4) the strike of more than 300,000 Telephone Workers (CIO), which will affect also 15,000 unaffiliated and salaried employes, left only Ford Motor Co. among the "Big Three" with wage negotiations still pending. Ford negotiations were to begin May 31, but in view of the settlements by General Motors and Chrysler they may open sooner.

11½ Cent Raise

General Electric's settlement with 125,000 members of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (CIO), like Chrysler's with the UAW, provided an 11½ cents increase for hourly workers and six paid vacations year. GE's salaried workers will get a 12½ cents an hour increase under the-one-year contract, retroactive to April 1.

Jones and Laughlin's two-year contract provides a 12½ cents boost for 25,000 members of the United Steel Workers of America (CIO), which with adjustments for wage inequities and differentials will work out to an average increase of 15 cents or more.

This was substantially the same agreement made April 20 by U. S. Steel to increase wages of 142,000 production workers to an average of $1.47, under a two-year contract. It's action was followed by similar settlements by Bethlehem Steel Co., Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., the Weirton (W.Va.) Steel Co. and three smaller companies on behalf of almost 270,000 workers.

Accepts GM Proposal

The Auto Workers, who had demanded 23½ cents, agreed on April 24 to accept General Motors' offer of "the equivalent of 15 cents" an hour, with the straight time raise to be 11½ cents. General Motors first had offered the 220,000 UAW workers 10 cents, and raised that to 11½ on April 18.

On that same date, Westinghouse's 75,000 UE members had agreed on a settlement on the 15-cent pattern (11½ cents straight time) which first had been accepted on April 14 by the 30,000 UE employes of General Motors, involving chiefly the Frigidaire and Delco products divisions.

Setting a precedent for the General Motors-UE settlement, and subsequent spread of the pattern to steel and the auto industries, was the earlier action of the United Rubber Workers (CIO) in getting substantially the same terms from the major rubber companies. A similar agreement was made on behalf of General Motors' 3,200 rubber workers.

Buckles Down To Settlement of Controversial Holy Land Issue.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 28 — The United Nations assembly, in special session, agreed today on creation of a 14-nation steering committee to resolve the controversial problem raised by Arab demands for immediate independence of Palestine.

The committee scheduled its first meeting for 4 p. m. to consider the assembly's agenda.

At present the agenda is limited to one item: Britain's proposal to set up a fact-finding committee which would make a preliminary study of the Palestine question and report to the regular assembly meeting in September.

The five Arab members—Iraq, Syria, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon and Egypt — have proposed the addition of an item calling for immediate ending of Britain's 25-year-old League of Nations mandate over the Holy Land.

Brazilian Elected President

Creation of the steering committee was proposed by Dr. Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil, who was elected president of the extraordinary session, and was accepted without opposition.

The committee was composed of the president, seven vice presidents and the chairmen of the assembly's six standing committees.

The assembly elected as vice presidents the representatives of the United States, France, Britain, Russia, China, Ecuador and India. The committee was scheduled to meet later in the day to elect their chairmen and complete the membership of the steering committee.

The meeting then, adjourned until 2 p. m.

OHIO LOG CABIN FIRE FATAL TO 4 PERSONS

By The Associated Press

LANCASTER, O., April 28—A log cabin fire killed four persons 13 miles south of here early Sunday, and sheriff's deputies said they were unable to explain the cause, pending further investigation.

Dr. C. A. Borrow, county coroner, withheld a verdict.

The dead were identified by deputies as Otto Minic, 63; his wife, Effie Pearl, 86, Ruby Sisco, 42, and Mrs. Bertha Britch, 61. The deputies said last night the bodies had not yet been recovered from the smoldering embers.

Six other persons escaped the flaming two-story cabin by jumping through windows. They were Ruby Sisco's wife, Nida, and their three sons, Raymond, 20, LeRoy, 10, and Harry, 8, and two unidentified cousins.

Raymond Sisco, who suffered second degree burns, told Fairfield County Prosecutor William Pickering that he and others had returned from a party at a friend's house about 3 a. m. He said he was awakened later by someone shouting fire and ran to the top of the stairs to see if he could aid the four persons trapped below. The youth said he stumbled and fell into the flaming first floor but escaped by breaking through a window. His mother, two brothers and two cousins jumped from upstairs windows to safety.

Chamber of Commerce Board Names H. E. Webster Secretary

Will Succeed Louis E. Michel May 15; Has Been Assistant Here Since March, 1945.

Hugh E. Webster, assistant secretary of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, has been named Chamber secretary succeeding Louis E. Michel.

Announcement of Mr. Webster's appointment was made following a meeting of the Chamber directors Saturday afternoon in Hotel Harding when severan applications for the office were considered.

The board set May 15 as the date on which Mr. Webster would take office, corresponding with the date on which Mr. Michel will resign to accept the secretary's post with the Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce.

The executive committee of the Chamber, including its officers, is expected to name a successor to Mr. Webster within the next few days

Mr. Webster was employed as assistant secretary of the Marion Chamber March 1, 1945, and became acting secretary immediately when Mr. Michel joined the Red Cross service during the war. Mr. Webster went to the Marion Chamber from the Marion Metal Products Co., where he was personnel director. He came to Marion in 1942 as personnel director for the Defiance Pressed Steel Co., which later sold its interests to the Marion Metal Products Co.

From 1929 to 1942 he was with the industrial and public relations department of the International Harvester Co. of Chicago, working out of its Springfield, O., office.

Previous to his employment with the International Harvester Co he served from 1921 to 1929 with the publicity and sales promotion department of the Cribben and Sexton Co of Chicago, manufacturers of stoves and ranges.

Born Near Springfield

He was born in Clark county near Springfield, O., and attended Springfield High school and Nelson's commercial college there.

Besides serving as assistant secretary of the Marion Chamber he also is secretary of the Personnel Directors' club, the Industrial Safety council and the Marion Foremen's club and directs the activities of the fire prevention, housing and industrial promotion committees of the Chamber.

He also is a past grand councillor of the United Commercial Travelers of Ohio, an office he held in 1930 and 1931.

He is married and lives at 342 South Vine street. He has two sons, James William, who is supervisor of catering of the Albert Pick Hotels Co. of Chicago, and John Edward, who is a junior at Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland. Both sons are World War II veterans.

Others Trying Price Cut Plan

Newburyport Program Spreads but Merchants Say They Can't Do It Alone.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 28—Merchants in several communities over the nation today joined the "Newburyport plan" to bring prices down with 10 per cent mark-downs, but some agreed with former UNRRA Director F. H. LaGuardia that "the retailer can not do it alone."

The former New York mayor said in a broadcast that the initiative for reversing the price trend must come from "Wall Street — not Main Street."

Leon H. Keyserling, vice chairman of President Truman's council on economic advisers, said in another broadcast, from Washington, D. C., that there must be orderly, synchronized decrease of both wholesale and retail prices.

At Newburyport, Mass., where merchants last Tuesday responded to the President's call for price reduction by cutting their prices 10 per cent for 10 days, a jump of 30 to 45 per cent in sales was reported. But Norman J. Randell, executive secretary of the development council, emphasized that success of the movement depended on the degree to which the merchants can persuade their suppliers to bring down prices.

Two additional manufacturers announced price cuts yesterday. At Wilmington, Del., E. I. Du Pont De Nemours and Co. made a 10 per cent reduction for cyclohexanone, solvent used in plastic, DDT and some paints and lacquers, and hexalin, used in drycleaning fluids and coating compositions. The Boulevard Glove Corp. of New York dropped prices 15 to 20 per cent.

An Associated Press survey showed that few communities were adopting the "Newburyport plan" in full, although one or more merchants in widely scattered communities had announced 10 per cent reductions. Even among these, some merchants did not drop prices on all items, in some cases bound by fair trade practices.

Merchants and civil leaders in other communities were hostile to the plan, saying it had taken the form of a "clearance sale."

WOMEN VOTERS URGE U. S. AID TO SCHOOLS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 28—The League of Women Voters said today that unless this congress provides federal support of education "there will be no way to undo the damage to this generation now growing up."

Mrs. Charles E. Heming, director of the league, said in testimony prepared for a senate subcommittee "we see no other possible solution" for a "grave emergency."

The labor-public welfare group began its second week of hearings today on five bills which would authorize federal aid to the states either to supplement teachers' salaries or help meet general education expenses.

Among those scheduled to testify were Senators Pepper (D-Fla), and Murray (D-Mont), sponsors of a bill which would guarantee teachers next year at least $800 more salary than they received in 1941.

Mrs. Heming endorsed a bill sponsored by Senator Taft (R-Ohio), and seven of his colleagues to authorize $150,000,000 in federal aid next year, $200,000,000 the following year and $250,000,000 in each succeeding year. It is designed to guarantee expenditure of at least $40 for each pupil a year.

"The total of $250,000,000 ultimately to be expended annually * * * is indeed small compared to the cost of the community of illiteracy, delinquency and crime," she said. "It is infinitesimal compared to what we spend for war.

"Minimum of $40 per child will not guarantee what should be our aim for public schools, namely the kind of edcuation that wise parents want for their child. It is merely the first step."

Marion Cubs Win Opener

The Marion Cubs baseball team yesterday won its first opening day victory since the Ohio State league was organized four years ago. They defeated the Lima Terriers 8 to 2.

The team will make its first home appearance at Lincoln Park at 8 p. m. tomorrow night against Lima.

Secret Burial Arranged For Owner of Hope "Jinx" Diamond

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 28—Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean, who in life loved parties and large gatherings will be buried secretly Tuesday to avoid crowds.

Only survivors and closest friends will be told the time and place of funeral services for the central character of "father struck it rich," owner of the ill-reputed but magnificent Hope diamond and, almost to the end, hostess to the world's most famous names.

Her death Saturday at the age of 60 during a recurrence of pneumonia ended an era of Americana.

And it meant the Hope diamond awaits a new owner who will defy its storied curse.

A cinderella whose dream held past midnight, Mrs. McLean began life in a two-room log cabin, the daughter of a prospector whose pikax hit yellow dirt in Colorado. She grew up in luxury to marry a millionaire and become hostess to presidents and royalty.

Led Gilded Life

Her father's lucky strike a Camp Bird in Ouray, Colo., resulted in a gilded life in one of Washington's largest mansions, residence in Bar Harbor, Me., trips to Europe, hobnobbing with royalty and marriage in 1908 to Ned McLean, son of the multi-millionaire publisher of the Cincinnati Enquirer and Washington Post.

When her daughter, the late Evalyn Reynolds, wife of former Senator Robert Reynolds of North Carolina, bypassed a debut at 17 in 1938, Mrs. McLean shrugged her shoulders and said:

"Anybody can get plenty of people to come and drink wines and dance all night—people who will go away and laugh next day."

Gave $50,000 Party

But even though Evalyn didn't want a traditional "coming-out" affair, Mrs. McLean was not outdone for a party. She gave one for 620 guests reputed to cost $50,000, in January, 1937, to mark the coming of age of her son,

(Turn to DIAMOND, Page 10)

$7,800 for $1.90. After 20 years as an Auction fan, Mrs. Lillian Nelson (above) "hit the jackpot" when she found $7,800 in two cans amid a case of odds and ends she bought for $1.90, in Seattle. Mrs. Nelson is shown with part of her find and tin cans in which it was hidden. Her legal right to money is being contested by attorney for estate from which auction goods came.

G.O.P. FIGHT ON LABOR BEGINS

4 Republican Senators Square Off for Battle Over "Tough" Bill.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 28—Four Republican senators squared off today for a week-long battle, two on one side and two on the other, as the senate resumed arguing about its 59-page labor bill.

Democrats were in on the scrap, too, and some were ready for long oratory, but the senate expects more sparks to fly when these Republicans go after each other:

1. Ball, of Minnesota, and Taft, of Ohio, on one side. They are determined to expand the pending bill by adding more restrictions on unions.

2. Ives, of New York, and Morse, of Oregon. They are defending the present bill, as approved by the senate labor committee. They are resisting four amendments backed by Ball, Taft, and other senators.

The first of these amendments, which now is before the senate for action, would prohibit unions from interfering with workers in their free choice of unions. (Employers are already so prohibited).

A vote on this provision will come later in the week.

The other three amendments being pushed by Taft and Ball would:

Prohibit a national union from coercing its locals in collective bargaining; enable private employers to apply for injunctions to stop jurisdictional strikes and certain other union practices; and prohibit employer payments into a union-controlled welfare fund.

The senate bill as it now stands would ban closed shop contracts, authorize the U. S. attorney general to get injunctions to delay "national emergency" strikes; create a new federal mediation service, and restrict labor leaders in a number of ways.

RECAPTURE 3 OF 4 ESCAPED PATIENTS

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28—Three of four dangerous mental patients who escaped from the Army's Letterman hospital by trickery and force yesterday were back in custody today while search widened for the fourth escapee and a hospital orderly they took as a hostage.

Still at large, more than 24 hours after the escape, was Frank R. Wallrath, 24, of Long Island City, N. Y. The orderly is Wallace William of Fort Worth, Tex.

Wallrath, a paratrooper with the 11th Airborne division during the war, was convicted by an Eighth army court martial last Aug. 23 for deserting under fire and for escapingk twice from army confinement. He was sentenced to death and the division commander upheld the sentence, but President Truman later commuted it to life imprisonment.

The four patients made their escape from the doublelocked psychopathic ward at 2 a. m., after slugging four orderlies who were summoned one by one. They opened the ward doors with keys taken from the orderlies and then slugged a guard, taking his .45 caliber pistol.

SEES HOPEFUL DEVELOPMENTS

"May Come Today or Tomorrow," Union Chieftain Says at Washington.

Bell System Offer Ups Phone Peace Hopes

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 28 — An offer of a flat pay increase—the first proposed by any Bell system company — spurred new optimism among government and union officials today that the three-week old nationwide phone strike may be near an end.

The offer, a $2.50 weekly wage hike for 17,500 workers in five midwestern states, was made by the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. and announced in St. Paul by Minnesota's Governor Luther W. Youngdahl.

The prospect of ending the strike there — and possibly elsewhere was well-hinged on acceptance or rejection of the firm's proposal in a union reply to the governor at 2 p. m., today. The workers are in Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa and North and South Dakota.

The northwestern negotiations are among the more than 20 involving Bell company subsidiaries throughout the nation. All the companies have offered to arbitrate the wage issues in dispute. But until the Northwestern proposal, some had agreed to even a token wage raise.

The strikers cut their wage demand from $12 to $6 a week last Friday, to match the 15 cent hourly boosts granted in steel, auto and other industries.

Lewis, Coal Operators To Begin Contract Talks

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 28—John L. Lewis and soft coal operators open talks on a New York contract tomorrow — with another mine strike possibly hinging on the outcome.

The conference was arranged by the government to get the UMW chieftain and the mine owners together on an agreement before the June 30 deadline for the return of the government-controlled pits to private operation.

But there is little hope a new pact will be negotiated quickly. If no agreement is reached by July 1, miners are expected to observe their policy of "no contract, no work" and leave their jobs.

It will be the first meeting of Lewis and the operators since last September and the same stumbling blocks probably will bob up again. These involve principally the UMW's demands for an industry-wide safety code and a royalty on coal to support a welfare fund for the miners.

Alpheus Ronald Thistlethwait on Soapbox

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, April 28—Alpheus Ronald Thistlethwaite, the seer of Washington Square north, was seen scurrying rapidly toward a Fifth Avenue bus. In one hand he carried a comfortably padded soapbox.

"Whither away, Alepheus?" called his friend Pythias Roundelay.

Hal Boyle

"To Union square to rouse the masses!" cried Thistlethwaite.

"What is it this time?" sighed Roundelay, the laureate of Patchen Place, as he daintily placed upon a park bench the copy of Krafftebing he was translating into heroic couplets. "Is the park commission trying to erect another one of those devilish children's swings in Washington square?"

"You are less than amusing," said Alpheus. "This is a matter that affects all America. It affects even you. Have you read of the Newburyport sales plan?"

Still High for Genius

"You mean the voluntary proposal to cut retail prices ten per cent?" replied Pythias languidly. "That hardly affects me—the prices are still ninety per cent too high for a genius without money."

"The Newburyport plan does not even touch the fringe of the problem I am attacking," said Thistlethwaite vehemently. "I propose to remove hands from the consumers pocket that have no business there at all."

"Such as?"

"Such as the people who get paid for doing nothing or who want extra pay for something they are already paid to do. It is a fiendish custom imported from totalitarian states to weaken the character of our democratic workers.

Lists Tipping Evils

"A doorkeeper you have no need of expects a quarter for opening a taxi door you should open for yourself in the name of exercise. The cab driver expects thirty-five cents above the legal fare merely for knowing the right street. The hatcheck girls regard you as a leper if you toss them less than two bits for the dangerous work of guarding your hat and coat.

"If two hundred thousand men check their hats in Manhattan in one evening, that is $50,000 thrown down the economic drain."

"I don't wear a hat," said Pythias, tenderly combing his locks with his last month's fingernails.

"But the evil has spread throughout our whole system!" declaimed Alpheus. "A hotel clerk expects you to slip him five dollars for putting you up in a $9 hotel room worth $3. My building superintendent used to be satisfied with a necktie on Christmas. Now he expects a suit—and for Easter I have to dip him up a topcoat that matches it or my garbage isn't removed.

Soda Squirt Glares

"If you want to move to another apartment you have to shell out $200 to $300 on the side. You used to be able to buy a soft drink for five cents. Now it's ten cents. If you don't leave a dime tip, the soda squirt glares as if you had just shot Lincoln."

"The things people will do for money!" sighed Pythias, looking hungrily at a fat pigeon waddling on the sidewalk. In his poetic eyes fat pigeon somehow always looked like hamburgers. "What led you to embark on this crusade, Alpheus? These thing have been going on for sometime."

"Today the mailman climbed one flight of stairs to deliver me a special package," said Thistlethwaite warmly. "He stood around waiting—imagine that, a government employe!—until my wife gave him a fifty-cent tip."

"What was in the package?"

"A free sample of a new toothpaste," said Alpheus bitterly, as he turned to leave. "That convinced me America must awaken to its peril."

"How are you going to get on the bus with that soapbox, Alpheus?" asked Pythias. "It's against the rule to carry such large objects on public conveyances."

"I suppose I will have to slip the driver a quarter," said Thistlethwaite forlornly. "But, mind you, this is my last compromise!"

A Weak, Run-Down Feeling Is Often A Warning

That The Red-Blood Is Getting Low

If you do not feel like your real self, do not have the urge to be up and doing, why not check-up on your blood strength? Look at the palms of your hands, your fingernails, your lips, the lobes of your ears—are they pale and off color?

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Women's Group Meets In Kirkpatrick Church

Special to The Star

KIRKPATRICK — A potluck supper was served when the W. S. C. S. met in the Methodist church Wednesday night. Approximately 40 persons attended.

Scripture reading was by Mrs. Benge with prayer by Mrs. Ira Beers. Mrs. William Weir was elected as youth secretary. The program was in charge of Mrs. Twila Tron and consisted of two piano numbers by Mary Ellen Hinamon, readings by Mrs. O. G. McGlone of Caledonia. Excerpts from letters from Mr. Hollister and Mr. Fritz, missionaries, were read by Mrs. Bob Boyd and Miss Helen Ludwick. A reading was given by Mrs. Jake Myers. Mrs. Ray Dobbins who served as president for six years was presented a past president's pin from the society.

The men's brotherhood of the Methodist church entertained the women of the church at a meeting Tuesday night. Approximately 65 were present. Rev. J. B. Holloway of Marion was guest speaker. Two vocal solos were sung by Lowell Douce of Caledonia and two violin solos were played by Walter Lyon.

Galion Women Raise Church Building Funds

Special to The Star

GALION, April 28—Women of the First Evangelical United Brethren met Friday night with Mrs. Morris Hershner to tell how they made a dime grow into funds which will go toward the building of a new church in the city. Both the church and parsonage were destroyed by fire last Dec. 1.

Each member reported that she started with a dime with which some material was bought to make or bake an article which she sold. Money derived from the sale of the article was used to purchase more material for the next sale. Each successive sale amounted to more than the preceding sale, thus adding to the final sum to be turned into the building fund.

To add to its treasury coffers, the Galion City P.-T. A. council sponsored a card party and dance Friday evening at the Junior High school gymnasium. Music for dancing was provided by Raymond Malone, high school student, and his orchestra.

100 LARUE PUPILS IN SPRING MUSIC FESTIVAL

Vocal and Instrumental Units Present Program in School.

LA RUE—Approximately 100 pupils from the high school and seventh and eighth grades of the LaRue school took part in the Spring Musical Festival presented at the school here Friday evening under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Schlosser.

Four selections by the high school band opened the program. Vocal numbers were given by the girls' glee club, girls' ensemble and mixed ensemble. The newly organized boys' quartet composed of Jack Olsen, Ralph Wilson, Robert Littell and Robert Jones, all in costume, made its first public appearance with two selections. The boys' glee club presented a comedy selection in drama and song.

Other numbers included a vocal solo by Ralph Wilson and a piano duet by Miss Betty Lu Hutchison and Miss Dorothy Knapp, and three choral readings by 15 members of the high school speech class with introductions by Miss Doris Allen. The choral readings had been prepared in the regular speech class under the direction of Mrs. Kathryn Hearn. Pianists for vocal selections were Mrs. Schlosser and Miss Knapp.

Mrs. Schlosser announced that choral groups of the LaRue school would broadcast from station WMRN in Marion, Wednesday, April 30, at 8:30 p. m.

Final Answer on Labor Bill In Shadow Yet for Some Weeks

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, April 28 — You've been hearing for months about congress and bills to curb labor unions.

Are you wondering: where does it all stand now? What happens?

You won't know the final answer for some weeks. Here's an ABC explanation, up to date and of things to come.

James Marlow

A couple of weeks ago the house, after months of work, passed a bill to restrict labor unions.

This was the toughest labor bill ever passed by a house of congress.

And the senate this week or next will pass its own bill to restrict unions.

This bill, too, is tough, although less tough than the bill.

Because the two bills differ in many ways, when the senate passes its bill this will happen.

A joint committee—made up of members of the house and senate—will be appointed.

The committee member's job will be to agree on one single bill. In short: a compromise bill. Which means:

They'll take big chunks of the house bill and big chunks of the senate bill and put them in one bill.

This means keeping some of the senate bill, dropping some of it, keeping some of the house bill, dropping some of it.

When the joint committee has agreed on this single, final bill, it will send it back to the house and senate for final approval.

Certain To O.K. Bill

House and senate, as usual in such cases, are pretty certain to okay this single bill agreed upon by the joint committee.

Then, after all the work that went into it, the labor bill will begin what may be its death march.

It will be sent from congress to President Truman for his signature before it can become law. There's the hitch.

This bill coming out of congress will be tougher, much tougher, than any bill Mr. Truman wanted to curb unions.

Earlier this year he asked congress to pass some bills to restrict unions a bit, but nothing like this one coming up.

Veto Almost Sure

So, Mr. Truman seems pretty sure to try to kill this labor bill, sent him by congress, with a veto.

It will then stay killed unless both house and senate—by a two-thirds vote—can re-pass it over Mr. Truman's veto.

The house passed its labor bill by 308 to 107—far more than a two-thirds vote—but the senate margin may be much narrower.

So it will be some weeks before you know the answer to these two questions, which are the only big ones left:

1. Will Mr. Truman veto the bill?

2. If he vetoes, can both senate and house get up a two-thirds vote to re-pass it into law over his veto?

IN WAR SCANDAL? Frank Costello, alleged New York racket king and Tammany power, has been named, in a Washington Times-Herald copyright story, as "secret boss of a fantastic wartime manufacturing network that dodged millions of dollars in taxes by operating as a non-profit research organization."

Kenton Amvets Post Elects New Officers

KENTON, April 28—The Clyde G. Linke Post No. 20 of Amvets have named the officers to head the post in its second year.

Vincent Keckler was named commander. Other officers are Parker Obenour, vice commander; Keel Bryant, second vice commander; Carl Kirkland, third vice commander; Fred Bippus, finance officer; Hugh Kaylor, judge advocate; Edward Kelly, provost marshall; Oren Hogan, service officer.

The newly elected officers will be installed on May 13 when a state officer will be present. The organization also went on record as endorsing the Kenton swimming pool bond issue.

Bert Carter Stricken At Home in Ashley

Special to The Star

ASHLEY, April 28—Bert Carter, 71, died of a heart ailment at 11 p. m. Saturday at his home here. He was a retired state highway employe and had been associated with the Delaware department for 14 years.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Clara Carter, two sons, Crawford of Columbus, and Lloyd of Riverside, Calif., and two brothers, Lee Carter of Cardington, and Edgar Carter of Bucyrus.

Mr. Carter was a member of the Odd Fellows lodge at Ashley and the Masonic lodge at Cardington.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday at the C. R. Lee funeral home here and burial will be made in the Ashley cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home.

EXAMINER REPORTS ON GALION OFFICES

Special to The Star

GALION, April 28—While officials were commended for efficiency in the various departments, there were also points of criticism in the recent examiner's report of the city of Galion. The report covers a period from Dec. 15, 1943 to March 31, 1946.

During that time receipts for the city reached $1,863,080.03. Disbursements over the period were $1,886,395.48.

Regarding the building of the water works filter house, the examiner rendered a finding as an illegal payment against Stehlie-Wolf, Inc., in the sum of $18,917. The amount of the finding, the report stated, was the sum received by the firm "for the construction of a water works filter house building under the agreement entered into without compliance with statutory provisions." The report states further that before the contract was awarded to Stehlie-Wolf, Inc., the filter building item was deleted from the contract.

The report of the examiner commends the city treasurer, Clio Kreiter, for having in her custody depository bond in an amount sufficient to properly safeguard the funds of the city at all times, and for her thoroughness in the transaction of treasury affairs.

One page of the report devoted to the city solicitor called attention to the fact that the settlement of damage claims without court litigation should be made only after a thorough investigation as to the amount of damage sustained and the liability of the city for payment.

Records of the auditor's office are complete and accurate, the report stated.

The report also listed findings of $1,771.18 against several individuals who held offices, but these indicated no dishonesty on the part of the persons involved, according to the report.

INSTALLATION of officers of Iota, Eta, Lambda and Kappa chapters preceded the annual spring banquet of Delta Gamma society, Saturday night at Hotel Harding Later there was a program including a play review by Mrs. C. W. Weber and music by Mrs Harry D Brickley of Akron and Mrs. Cecil W. Davis. Miss Rhea King of Marion was in charge of the installation ceremony.

Red roses in a copper bowl centered the U-shaped table and completing the decorative theme were miniature maypoles from which were showered ribbons in pastel colors and red candles in crystal holders The maypole theme was repeated on the decorative jackets of the programs.

Miss Margaret Topliff, retiring president of Eta chapter, Marion, whose members were hostesses for the evening, extended greetings and for the program hour Miss Linda Willauer presided. Mrs. Davis played two piano numbers, "Reverie," by Arthur Kellogg, Marion musician and composer, and "The Musical Clock," Heins, and accompanied Mrs. Brickley who sang two groups of numbers including "Who'll Buy My Lavender," German, "O, Mournful Lips," Sibella, "The False Prophet," Scott, "Glannina Mia," Friml, "Because," D'Harvelot, "Will You Remember," Romberg and "Supposing," Bischoff. Completing the program was the review of the play, "State of the Union," by Mrs Weber.

The following officers were installed.

Eta chapter, Marion: Miss Esther Williamson, president; Miss Catherine Thew, first vice president, Miss Clara Alice Wilson, second vice president; Miss Mildred Little, recording secretary, Miss Grace Wingett corresponding secretary, Mrs Nellie B. Irey, parliamentarian

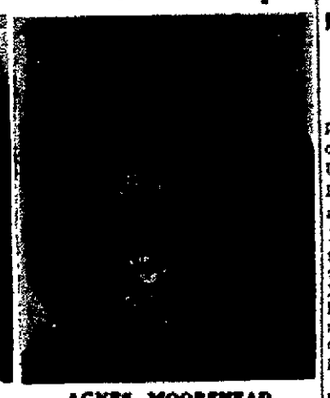
Makeup Troubles With $5,000 Rubber Face Make Agnes Aged

AGNES MOOREHEAD



AGNES MOOREHEAD

In real life . . . With old-age makeup.

By GENE HANDSAKER
AP Hollywood Reporter

HOLLYWOOD, April 28—Agnes Moorehead really suffers for her role in "The Lost Love"—her gasps, moans, and writhing as Makeup Man Buddy Westmore peeled off her false face at the end of the working day were the real thing.

She submits willingly to this mild torture for her art, however, and Buddy calls her a wonderful sport

Agnes, who is auburn-haired, blue-eyed and appears to be about 40, plays the part of a white-haired, wrinkled woman 105 years old, supposedly the long-surviving sweetheart of the poet Lord Byron

$5,000 Mask Does It

The change is accomplished with a soft rubber mask that reaches from above her hairline almost to her breastbone. It has approximately the thickness and pliability of a pancake and costs about $5,000, counting experts' time and imported human eyebrow hair

Agnes mounts a barber's chair before a fluorescently lighted mirror in Westmore's office every morning at 5:30 and sits for three and a half hours while Buddy and an assistant apply the mask.

It is stuck on tediously and painstakingly with liquid rubber so that when Agnes' own facial muscles move, the wrinkled forehead and sagging cheeks and jowls of the mask will move It is glued even to her upper and lower eyelids A white wig and artificially gnarled bands of cotton ridges coated with liquid rubber, complete the make-up.

It's An Ordeal

Under the hot arc lamps on the set, Agnes' perspiration starts to flow under the mask and washes saltily into her eyes. The mask draws her cheek muscles painfully and sometimes, she told me, making a gesture like a streak of lightning, a jab of pain cuts from her forehead down to her jaw.

"This thing's killing me," I heard her tell the director, and then she blew a line She went to her dressing room and lay down a make-up man brought an ice bag to cool her rubberized face.

The mask was made from a plaster cast of Agnes' face, molded while she sat in the barber chair Westmore then spent 46 hours molding, on top of this, the clay likeness of an old woman.

Employment in Ohio Still Moving Upward

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 28—Employment in Ohio industries, particularly in plants where automobile parts are made, is still moving in an upward spiral

A report today by the Cleveland regional office of the bureau of labor statistics showed 2,206,400 workers were employed in the state's non-agricultural industries in mid-March.

This figure, which excludes construction and government employes, represents an increase of 15 000 over mid-February, 1947, and 224, 700 over the level a year ago, the bureau reported.

In the automobile industry, the number of workers has jumped 38 5 per cent in the last year—an increase of 26,100 persons. In the blast furnace industry, the bureau continued employment climbed 7.8 per cent in a year and 1 3 per cent in the last recorded month.

U. S. Quits Moscow Conference With Most Carefully Defined European Policy in Her History

This is the first of a series recapitulating the outstanding points, personalities and difficulties of the just concluded Big Four foreign ministers conference at Moscow by members of The Associated Press team who viewed the proceedings at first hand.

★ ★ ★

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW, April 28—The United States came out of the Moscow conference with the most clearly defined European policy it has ever had.

Within the American delegation led by Secretary of State George C. Marshall there was hope that his policy, embracing a half dozen major points, would rally support from non-Communist peoples all over Europe. From this point, the United States appears to have made its greatest bid for European leadership in the postwar years.

Here are the main points of the policy, as developed both inside and outside the conference:

1. The declaration of President Truman on aid to Greece and Turkey. Although the Soviets assailed this as American imperialism, American, British, French and some small nation diplomats here said it proved the seriousness of American intentions in relation to Communism and, above all, the willingness of the United States to act as well as talk.

2. The right of international use of resources, such as those of the Ruhr and Silesia, which are basic to European economy. Marshall several times advocated giving a European economic commission the task of working toward that objective with the purpose of making Europe more of an economic whole.

3. The declaration of Marshall on the Big-Four treaty. While the original draft of his statement in the sixth week of the conference was toned down to avoid offense to Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, he virtually said flatly that the United States intended to keep its hand in the control of Germany for many years, with or without a Big-Four treaty.

4. The definition of democracy. Marshall's statement during the German political discussions put the United States on record in favor of a democracy of individual freedom which many of his advisers regard as one of the central issues in the conflict between Russia and America.

5. Repeated and largely successful American attempts to woo French support. The United States wants France clearly in the western group of nations during the conflict with Russia and directed its attitude regarding the Saar, German coal and some other issues to that end.

6. The development of the whole German policy away from demilitarization to emphasis on rebuilding a peaceful Germany, unburdened by heavy reparations and able to support itself while making goods for all Europe.

Popularity in Doubt

It remains to be seen whether the United States' policy will be popular with Germany's small neighbors, but American officials seem to think it will be because they consider it basically sound.

The development of the American policy on Germany and Europe has not been without difficulties, complications and fierce arguments within the delegation.

The most famous of the clashes was between John Foster Dulles and his so-called all-European approach and Gen. Lucius Clay and his primarily German approach.

Disagreements among advisers always occur at such meetings, but they appeared more often than usual during the Moscow meeting because of the peculiar position of the United States in relation to Germany and Europe. Except in wartime and the busiest period of Wilsonian activity, the United States never had a very positive European policy, preferring instead to go along with France and Britain. After this war, however, neither of those two was in a position to give small nations the assurances they sought or otherwise create stability on the continent.

This reduced European power politics to a question of relations between the United States and the Soviet Union.

U. S. Policy Shifts

Since before the end of the war, United States' policy with Russia has moved half way around the compass, swinging from a position of conscious and deliberate "good neighbor" to what might be called that of "strong neighbor." When former Secretary of State Cordell Hull came to Moscow in the fall of 1943 and, later, when President Roosevelt went to Tehren, American war policy was aimed at assuring the Russians' military cooperation against Japan and her peace policy was based on the theory that, as Hull sometimes told associates, the Soviets would be friendly with the rest of the world and especially the United States when it was convinced itself that the rest of the world was friendly.

For many months, Hull and President Roosevelt and, later, President Truman and Secretary James F. Byrnes sought by word and deed to prove that the United States was genuinely friendly to Russia.

The first really serious break in this official line came when the London conference in the fall of 1945 failed utterly to make any start on satellite peace treaties. Byrnes went home and took his hair down, blamed Molotov for all the trouble and announced that the United States thereafter would not yield on any basic principles.

Match Force with Force

In succeeding negotiations under Byrnes and now with Marshall, the United States finally has reached the position where it says to Russia in effect that it wants friendly and cooperative relations but realizes that they are obtainable only under a policy of matching force with force—so that is what is being done.

This has reduced the relations among the powers to a brutal balancing of political, propaganda and even military resources. Not much fair seems to remain in agreements, except as they directly reflect real forces. Such things as the Austrian peace treaty clauses are fought over in every word because neither side trusts the other with intending to carry out commitments with good will.

It seems evident now that both the Soviets and the western powers honestly believe each other guilty of all sorts of violations of the Yalta and Potsdam agreements. Beyond that, at least some of the statements made in the conference here looked like deliberate distortions or some other issue. In other words, good will just isn't there.

Blocks Churchill Move

Marshall came to the Moscow conference from 13 months in China and about six weeks in the State department. His closest connection with Soviet-American politics had come during the war, when he blocked Prime Minister Churchill's move to invade the Balkans and thereby eliminate future troubles with the Soviets over that area.

Incidentally, he has told friends here that he still is convinced his Balkan policy was right because of the high cost of an invasion there and the uncertainty of the political outcome in any case.

As the conference moved along the Dulles and Clay split over the relative importance of France and Germany in the European picture, it gradually became evident that Dulles was emerging as an important designer of Marshall's policies and the author of many of the secretary's statements, such as the one on democratization and another in which Marshall virtually accused Molotov of trying to make Austria a puppet state through economic controls.

Dulles himself let it be known that he was very pleased with his role in the delegation and, while there were some intimations from Washington of Sen. Arthur H. Vandenburg's displeasure with the bi-partisan foreign policy cooperation there, Marshall's Republican representative said things had worked out fine at Moscow.

Johnny Long Band Coming Wednesday

Coming to the Palace theater Wednesday for afternoon and evening performances on the stage of the theater is ohnny Long and his orchestra, one of the top popular music organizations of the country currently on tour.

Johnny Long is recognized as the only left-handed leader in popular music today and is an accomplished violinist. At the early age of five, he was thinking seriously of becoming a professional musician, but thought only in terms of concert pieces and symphonies. He never paid much attention to popular music until he entered Duke university, and then, in order to earn enough money to keep him in college he formed a dance band.

Long and the orchestra for some time was a steady attraction at the Terrace Room of the Hotel New Yorker in New York. Francey Lane is featured vocalist with the organization.

LAST LAMB POOL HELD AT ASHLEY

458 Head Consigned to Sale by 19 Farmers.

Four hundred and fifty-eight head of sheep and lambs were consigned by 19 farmers in the Delaware-Morrow-Marion county area to the final lamb pool Thursday at Ashley.

More than 9,000 head of sheep and lambs have been marketed through the 16 pools held by the tri-county area sheep improvement association since last August.

The top blue grade sold for $22 cwt., red $20.50 and yellow $17.50 cwt. The top grade on the 1946-47 pools has always been above $20, with the highest price paid of $27.50 at the March 27 pool. The highest price paid for top grade lambs on the pools one year ago was $16.50 on the Feb 14 pool.

Almost 300 farmers in the Delaware-Morrow-Marion county area have sold their sheep and lambs through the Ashley pool in the 1946-47 season.

Jesse Foust, chairman of the sheep improvement committee, reports that plans for the annual meeting and banquet to be held at Ashley school auditorium on next Thursday evening are almost complete.

The banquet will be served by the women of Ashley Grange and music and entertainment will be furnished by Rex Hanna and his orchestra of Harlem township. Senator George Shurtz of Newcomerstown will be the principal speaker. Tickets for the banquet are now on sale by committee members and at the county extension offices and every one is urged to secure their tickets early. This will be the second annual meeting and banquet by this improvement association.

Cub Leaders Meet For Discussion Period

Thirty-one Cub leaders, including executives, Cub masters and den mothers attended a monthly round table meeting at Scout headquarters Thursday night.

Charles Smith, assistant commissioner, opened the meeting. The round table discussion was led by Herman Powelson, Cubbing field commissioner. Mrs. Hugh Hay, den mother of Pack No. 3, discussed methods of opening a den meeting.

Cub handicraft was discussed by Karl D. Bechtle, Scout field executive; G. W. Roberts, assistant field commissioner, and Cubmaster of Pack 2; Mrs. Lowell Pollock, den mother in Pack 2; and Edward Hachlen, assistant field commissioner of Cubbing and den dad in Pack 3.

The next meeting will be held at Forest Lawn Community House May 22 at 7:30 p. m. The topic will be "Pack Meeting," and the chairman will be Howard Ziegler, assistant field commissioner of Cubbing and chairman of Pack 2 at Oakland school.

Mr. Powelson appointed the following committee to make plans for a Cub circus: Mrs. Lowell Pollock, chairman; Howard Ziegler, John Rinnert, Mrs. Inez Bastin; Mrs. Leo Hathaway, Mrs. Hugh Hay and R. N. Tuttle.

There is no ancient geographical term which covered all of the area now known as Palestine.

Mrs. John Moser Hostess To Church Circle No. 12

Mrs. John Moser of 250 North State street was hostess for a meeting of Circle No. 12 of the W.S.C.S. of Epworth Methodist church Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Myrtle Bradt conducted the devotions on the theme, "Declare His Glory Among All His People." Mrs. Clarence Price read an article, "There Is No Substitute for a Good Home." Mrs. Bradt was appointed spiritual life secretary for the circle. For the program a letter from a Chinese boy in the "Methodist Woman" was read by Mrs. Fred Cory and Mrs. Robert Williams read "The Sermon that Wasn't Interesting," from the Christian Advocate. A poem by Mrs. Cory closed the meeting. The hostess was assisted during a social hour by Mrs. H. L. Maddox and Mrs. G. E. Chivington. Mrs. Price was a guest. A meeting May 26 will be with Mrs. E. J. Schoenlaub of 714 Mt. Vernon avenue.

Good Management Has Kept Lower Cost . . .

Active personal management means a great deal in keeping the cost of funeral service reasonable. It has saved many of our patrons from spending their money needlessly. This fact has been established on several occasions. An audit of our books by independent and disinterested parties has shown our costs to be far below average. That saving has been passed on to patrons. Those who believe in value for the money they invest will find it at this Funeral Home. They also will find service at least equal to any they have had—and some advantages not available elsewhere.

Look-and-Feel Economics

ECONOMIC theorists hesitate to turn themselves loose in the field of practical economics right now, lest they stumble over some of their own predictions that have gone wild.

But others have no inhibitions. They are ranging far and wide in the field of practical economics, and what they see is convincing them that the theorists are missing something.

Chiefly they are missing the tangible evidence that the pipelines of supply are finally full, a fact with vastly more bearing on prices than all the windy statements of the Chester Bowleses. All arguments to the contrary notwithstanding, prices will come down when they are forced down. They are not going to come down in response to pleadings and wheedlings. They are not going to come down because someone appointed a committee. They are going to come down when competition causes manufacturers and handlers of similar articles to compete for the available business.

Economic theorists know this, but they become preoccupied with theory, at the expense of reality. Those who live closer to look-and-feel economics are better able to sense the patterns of behavior which, in the long run, have as much to do with economics as the abstractions in that field. One trip through a store whose shelves and floor space are filling up is worth a pound of statistics.

Buyers are slowing up in their search for sellers. The competition for scarce goods which generated a psychology of urgency is cooling off. Under-the-counter stuff is beginning to look a little foolish. "What'll you take?" is being replaced by "What'll you offer?"

Price reduction is materializing where it eventually must come from—in competitive pressure. The United States relies on competitive enterprise to give it what it wants at a price it can afford to pay—but war production and postwar shortages made the competitive part of enterprise seem unimportant.

Competition is reasserting itself as a major factor in economics. Economic theorists probably will be the last to realize this. They will take account of it after it happens.

Willa Cather

THE DEATH of Willa Cather removes from the American scene one of the foremost novelists of our time. A Nebraska farm girl who later became a Pittsburgh newspaperwoman, she was pre-eminent among the woman novelists who proved that in literature women were on an equal footing with men.

Drawing on recollections of her Nebraska childhood, Miss Cather used words to paint memorable pictures of life in pioneer America, and plumbed the deep current of drama and emotion underlying the Main Street which Sinclair Lewis found so drab. Her later novels took her to other subjects which she handled with equal artistry.

Miss Cather's style is restrained, almost cold, yet there are passages of transcendant beauty in her descriptions of the windswept plains, the lonely Nebraska farms and the mesas of New Mexico. Because her principal characters are women, her novels are not concerned with deeds of derring-do, but her powers of description and her insight into character give her work far more lasting worth than some of the superficial, spectacular items which briefly top the best-seller lists these days.

While some preferred the bold palette, she relied on pastels and drypoint. Lacking humor and satire, she relied on insight and restraint. The result assures Willa Cather a lasting place among the immortals of American literature.

Traffic Fatigue

MEMBERS of the British house of commons were interrupted in their deliberations the other day when an elderly man in the visitors' gallery stood up and shouted, "There will be civil war in this country unless the speed limit of 30 miles an hour is applied to all roads in the country..." Police ejected him before he could say more.

While it's risky to attempt to diagnose such an aberration at a distance of 4,000 miles, here obviously is a case of traffic fatigue, a common complaint in this country.

Traffic fatigue is like combat fatigue, except that it affects us all in some degree. Traffic fatigue comes to the surface in a pedestrian when he is splashed by an inconsiderate motorist on a rainy day. It manifests itself in an observer pondering the antics of an accelerator-happy simpleton who, when the light goes green, darts away like a supercharged whippet, only to be brought up short two blocks away by another red light.

A favorable prognosis can be made for London's parliamentary interloper if he is put away for a week or two in a quiet room with a bed surrounded by safety stanchions.

The common black or sloth bear is found throughout India wherever rocky hills and forests occur. Its food consists of ants, honey and fruit but when disturbed it will attack man, always striking at the face.

Dewey Not Solely Responsible for Convention Choice

WASHINGTON, April 28—It was not so much Governor Dewey as insurmountable circumstance which took the Republican convention away from Chicago to Philadelphia, a closer check of the national committee meeting indicates.

Chicago did not seem to care much. On the other hand, Philadelphia laid down a certified check for $200,000 and staked quite a claim. Two carloads of paraphernalia citing the advantages in the largest Republican city in the country were brought out to the committee meeting for a demonstration.

A main item demonstrated was that the Philadelphia auditorium was municipally owned, while Chicago would cost $5,000 a day, as it is privately owned. The Chicago hotel people would promise accommodations only for one week of June 21 and part of the following week, but no longer, while Philadelphia placed no hotel limitation on the duration. Quite obviously Chicago did not want the convention much, and did not put up an earnest fight.

A Hot Day, Indeed

The Philadelphians made much personal use of an old story from the 1944 Chicago convention which was rather influential in the decision, although no one claimed to be able to prove the story. The hottest July day of 1944 in the hall was said to have been encouraged by employes who burned wastepapers in the furnace before the meeting started. The story tellers did not seek to blame anyone, but immediately pointed out Chicago was a Democratic town. This lost at least a few votes for Chicago.

As far as internal group politics may have influenced the decision, the anti-McCormick feeling of some committeemen was noticeable yet hardly controlling. The convention could not have gone to Chicago anyway under the circumstances presented to the committeemen. The anti-McCormick feeling was stronger in the Dewey camp than elsewhere, and may not have won many votes. Furthermore, the Stassen, Vandenberg, Warren, and other group-votes generally went to Philadelphia although they may not go to Dewey in the convention.

More Dewey Talk

At the same time, it is true more popular Dewey talk was heard among the committeemen than had been the case heretofore. The Dewey people cited the Gallup poll, and the stands they took in conferences were determined. For instance, the convention resolution was offered at 25 minutes to 6 p. m., in a hotel hall where the local committee had arranged a cocktail party for 5.30 p. m. Committeeman Owlett of Pennsylvania, a Dewey man, asked that it go over. There was no debate or discussion, but Chairman Reece is supposed to have promised definitely that night to appoint certain Dewey people to certain committees. Next morning the resolution was adopted without debate or discussion. However, Reece has all the leeway necessary to make his own selections, and some of his people say he could establish an early control of the organization of the convention if he wishes.

These details supplement and confirm my earlier story on the inside of the meeting, a prompt, full account of which was delayed by the telephone strike.

Traced To Polls

The Dewey people did not come out in the open with their new aggressiveness, but rather indicated with a knowing smile that the New Yorker was "hopeful." Their widely advertised dominance, however, could be traced largely to the Gallup polls, plus gossip which ran freshly strong in their favor, because of the senate delay in enacting labor legislation, attributed to Senator Taft. When the pending legislation is finally enacted, the Taft candidacy may encounter an up-draft. Yet many up and down drafts will be felt by the candidates before that convention.

Before next spring, it may be too early to get any definite line on the probable nominee. To date, the inner facts only confirm the openly observable prospect that the race will be hot—without any wastepaper being burned under the candidates.

Could It Maybe Have Been Hoover?

A survey just conducted in Chicago shows that 82 per cent of that city's youth have no ambition to be president.

It's probably just as well, the way Truman's popularity is rising.

The appeal of the White House to the nation's youth is again on the downgrade, just as in the thirties when the job seemed permanently filled.

One had cherished the tradition, until Tom Dewey found out otherwise, that this was a nation where any young man might grow up to be president. But the modern boy is unimpressed with the prospects. The pay is all right, of course, but there's no opportunity for advancement.

Far more teen-agers hope to be big league ball-players than president, the survey showed. This doubtless reflects current conditions, with hard-hitting shortstops much in demand and presidential possibilities a drug on the market.

Moreover, the old argument that one may, in politics, gain a place in history is no longer convincing. Every school boy knows how many homers Babe Ruth hit in '29, but only a few can name the president who enunciated the Monroe Doctrine.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Wednesday, April 28, 1937.

President Roosevelt traveled across rain-swept Virginia and the Carolinas on a fishing trip to the Gulf of Mexico.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Epley of Forest Lawn boulevard and a son to Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Joseph Wilhelm of East Farming street.

Miss Esther Guthery of Delaware avenue was hostess when the Literary Arts club entertained with a guest party. The program included an original story of Mrs. Edwin Spohn.

The second highway first aid station was opened by the Marion County Red Cross at the S. R. Buchanan filling station at Brush Ridge.

Mrs. Rebecca Dickerson, wife of Rev. L. Dickerson, retired Baptist minister, died at her home in Prospect.

Miss Kathryn Zachman was elected president of Gamma Mu chapter, Delta Theta Tau sorority.

Mrs. Byron Moffet was enrolled in the Four D's club at a meeting held at the home of Miss Erma Prettyman on East Center street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, April 28, 1927.

While at work razing a barn in Green Camp, William Sissons, 50, of Herman street fell from the second floor of the structure and was killed.

A Washington dispatch reported that the disastrous Mississippi flood probably would result in the administration presenting to congress at its next session an extensive flood prevention program.

The full amount of the purchase price of the Marion Steam Shovel Co., almost $7,000,000, was paid by W. A. Harriman & Co., New York City investment house.

The Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs voted a $50 contribution to the flood relief fund. Marion county's quota was $2,100.

Miss Bernice Marie Peters of near Meeker and Justin N. Parsell of Marion were united in marriage at the home of the bride by Rev. M. J. Plotts, pastor of the Agosta M. E. church.

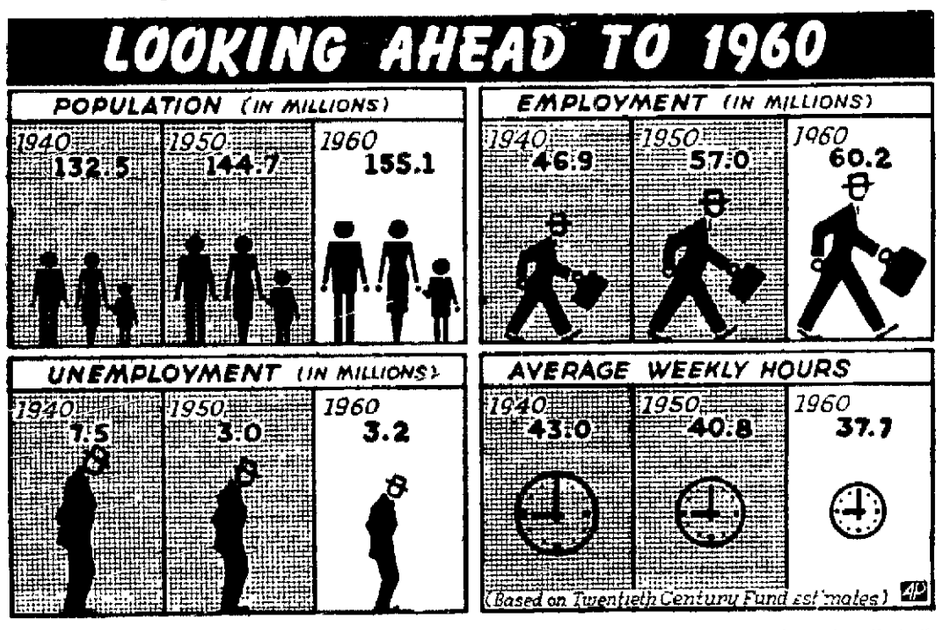
Survey Predicts Better and Longer Life



(First in a series of articles on life in 1960)

* * *

By JOHN L. SPRINGER
Associated Press Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK — Your life will be easier tomorrow, but it will fall far short of the "post-war dream world" some people have been predicting.

That is the gist of an exhaustive, 3½-year study just completed by a staff of 26 experts of the Twentieth Century Fund on "America's Needs and Resources." In a half-million word report the Fund, an endowed foundation for nonpartisan research on economic questions, makes many suggestions of what conditions in the United States may be like in 1960. The survey will be published May 5.

By 1960, the Fund predicts, Americans will be working fewer hours per week, there will be two week vacations with pay for virtually every one, and higher wages and higher output per worker. It indicates that while improvements in medicine may lengthen lives and stave off death, taxes however will be as inevitable as ever.

Picture for 1960

The survey assumes that by 1960 the postwar boom will have ended, pentup wartime demands will have been met and the country will have settled down to a high level of prosperity similar to that of the late Twenties.

Here's how it says every-day living will shape up for Mr. Average American in 1960:

It should be easy to get and hold a job. The population is expected to increase to 155 million in 1960, with the number of persons willing and able to work estimated at slightly more than 63 million. There will be a "normal" unemployment of three million, but there will be 10 million more jobs available than there were in 1940.

Mr. Average will work five hours less a week. Whereas he put in 43 hours on the job in 1940, he'll give only 37.7 hours in 1960. This will be due in part to the fact that while only one worker in four received two weeks off with pay in 1940, in another three years half will and finally every one will.

He'll earn more than ever before in peacetime, but less than in 1944, and he'll be able to buy twice as much as he could during the depth of the depression. Largely as a result of technical advances, his efficiency will be higher. Whereas he was producing goods or services worth 74 cents an hour in 1940, he'll have an output worth $1.03.

It's probable that he'll continue to live in a city, although more and more of his friends will be moving to the suburbs or what the survey calls "rural non-farm areas." The "rural farm" population itself will decrease by more than two million from 1940, but this will be offset by 7 million moving out of cities in the same period.

The survey says the trend to "rural non-farm areas" will be spurred by better transportation (including suburban airlines); by an increasing interest of Americans in outdoor sports, and by the movement of older workers to the country when they retire.

"Aging Process"

By 1960, "aging" of the population will be strikingly apparent. There will be more than 20 million persons over 60 years old—an increase of six million over 1940. While there will be a proportionate decline in the 15-to-29-year group, the proportion of younger children will be about the same, thanks to the wartime boom in birth rates.

The survey indicates that the next decade will see important changes in all phases of American life — in the food Mr. Average eats, in the house he lives in, his household equipment, medical care education, religions, transportation and recreation.

But a solid place in the future also is assured for the tax collector.

Twentieth Century Fund experts say that probably "the long-term upward trend of government expenditures will be accelerated in the post war decade, just as it was after World War I."

Among other things for which they say the taxpayer will have to foot the bill are interest on the higher federal debt, expanding social insurance and veterans' pensions. Income taxes will continue to cut heavily into the incomes of the middle and upper classes —which account for the bulk of personal savings—and it's believed that Americans will be unable to save as much in the future as they have in the past.

Wise Birds Avoid Berlin

By IRENE SIMON
Associated Press Writer

BERLIN—Few birds are flying back to hungry Berlin. Wild ducks and sea gulls used to swarm into the lakes surrounding the city at this time of the year, but most of them are conspicuously absent today.

"They were always sure of being fed, but now very few remain loyal to Berlin," said Professor Stresemann of the Berlin Museum of Natural History. "Evidently their love goes through the stomach."

The professor added the information that almost no swans are left in the capital, though thousands of them frequented the surrounding lakes and channels in the old days.

"The last swans made their way into Berlin cooking pots back in 1945," admitted the professor sadly. "It wasn't much different after the first World War, but at that time I was able to bring back 60 wild swan eggs from East Prussia. These were hatched out in the city zoo and became the ancestors for the postwar swan crop."

Destruction this past year of the trees in the Tiergarten (Berlin's Central Park) has destroyed the nesting chances for most singing birds. Berliners will mourn their passing, though love couples won't lose sleep over the loss of the screeching owls.

Buzzards being the birds they are, the sharp-beaked birds find debris much to their liking and are more plentiful than ever. Woodpeckers, too, have shown a special loyalty to the city and are pecking away as busily as before.

Making a check of the bird situation one Berlin evening paper —which admitted that "it is a hard job to count sparrows because they are the street urchins of the bird family and cannot be covered by the "questionnaire" system— found that most of the sparrows are missing.

"They definitely used to spend their winter in the big city but now have wandered off into the villages and rural districts," mourned the paper.

Even the world-renowned German storks may soon disappear, advised Stresemann. He said trappers and hunters in the provinces soon will make them as extinct as the dodo bird.

Imaginary Conversation In a Phone Strike

Bierne. Hello Is this Mr. Gifford?
Gifford: Who?
Bierne—Gifford . . . . "G" as in "concession."
Gifford—There's no "g" in concession.
Bierne—There might as well be the way things are going.

* * *

Gifford—Who is this speaking?
Bierne—This is Bierne.
Gifford—Which one?
Bierne—There's only one
Gifford—I had the impression there must be dozens. Stop jiggling the hook.
Bierne—I'm not jiggling the hook; it's your nerves.
Gifford—My nerves don't make a racket that loud.
Bierne—They will if we don't settle this thing soon.

* * *

Gifford—Well, good bye.
Bierne—But I haven't begun to talk yet.
Gifford—You don't need to. I have read your advertisements.
Bierne—Yeah, and I've read yours.
Gifford—That leaves us both fourth down, three minutes to go.
Bierne—Why the three minutes?
Gifford—That's the usual limit on phone talks without dropping in more coin.
Bierne—That's all I'm asking, more coin.

* * *

Gifford—Mr Bierne, I have your number!
Bierne—Yean and I have your number.
Gifford—Good It's nice to know somebody is getting numbers on the telephone today.

* * *

Bierne—Look, can't wet get together and settle this strike
Gifford—What are you asking?
Bierne—Twelve dollars more a week . . .
Gifford—I can't near. This must be a bad connection.
Bierne—I said twelve dollars. Am I standing too far from the phone?
Gifford—You're standing too near!

* * *

Voice—Listen, can I use this wire? . . .
Gifford and Bierne (in unison)—Don't mind that feller; he's just a subscriber.

* * *

Bierne—You've not been fair in this strife The phone company can well afford to meet our demands. Look at the money it makes Gifford—You forget all the nickels we have to give back in pay stations.
Bierne—The telephone company is lousy with money.
Gifford—It isn't the money. It's the principle.
Bierne—Is it okay if I laugh over the phone?
Gifford—Probably, but if I laughed over it there would be a federal inquiry.

* * *

Bierne—This strike is costing us both a lot of dough Don't you realize that? Why are you so muleheaded?
Gifford—You're the muleheaded one
Bierne—No I'm not.
Gifford—Yes you are.
Voice—Aw, why doncher let an arbitrator decide that question, too?

AVERY NO. 806

This is a question that haunts me each hour:
Why does a day coach smell awfully sour?

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

DEAR NEPHEW: Spring has been taking itself seriously and may get out of control. If things don't cool off, I may get out of control myself. Whatever it is that stirs us up and makes us want to kick down the fences, whether it's the rise in the temperature or the thought of green grass and leaves on the way, I got it—bad.

But I am still on the tag end of my winter meditations, nevertheless, and there is one more obvious thought that I want to mention before closing down for the season. This one is about putting yourself in the other fellow's shoes. I've made myself a lot of trouble doing this.

For instance, I knew there was going to be something like Pearl Harbor because I could even put myself in the place of the Japs when we started maneuvering our whole fleet in the Pacific back there in the thirties. If I'd been a Jap, I wouldn't have waited, and that's exactly how the Japs figured it. Naturally, that wasn't a popular point of view at the time, no more than it's popular now to imagine you are a Russian Communist. Because if you imagine real good, nephew, you'd do just about what the Reds are doing. You would have just as much faith in the promises of the opposition as the circumstances warrant, which is to say no faith at all. That is likewise the way we feel about Russian promises

Or if you were a Jew in Palestine right now you'd be doing what the Jews in Palestine are doing, which is making things tough for the British. Likewise, if you were a Briton, you'd be trying to keep order. Ditto for Indians in India and Irishmen in Ireland. If you were a big-shot labor leader you'd be daring the labor barters to come and get you, with no idea of surrendering. If you were rich you'd be bitter about confiscatory taxation, and if you were poor you'd be wondering what the rich are crying about.

If you were a farmer you'd be sore about your fellow Americans who want more gravy for everybody but farmers, and if you were a guy in overalls in someone's plant you'd be wondering how they expect a guy with a family to make ends meet on a little more than you need to pay rent and buy groceries. If you were a Republican you'd be mad at the way the Demmies are jumping on the poor elephant, and if you were a Demmie you'd be laughing at the way the elephant is tripping over his own feet. My weakness is an alarming ability to see the other guy's problem. As I say, it keeps me in hot water continually.

It would be simpler and safer to close my mind and conclude there is only one side to every question. But in the United States, as I understand it, we are supposed to see all sides of every question, then compromise. Nobody gets his way exclusively, but nobody gets brushed off either. This will probably be my last winter mediation of the 1946-47 season and will stamp me as a weak character unfit for association with strong characters who know exactly how everything should be. I envy them, I honestly do. They live in a perfect world of their own. All others are poor imitations. Give my regards to the family.

Lead Poisoning

Recently I discussed treatment for lead poisoning. Today I would like to tell you about a specialized form of this danger, one which, unless great care is taken, may jeopardize workers engaged in the manufacture of the anti-knock gasolines which modern industry has given us for our cars.

The compound which gives gasoline its anti-knock quality is tetraethyl lead. Now this substance is highly poisonous and acts the more readily because the vapor it gives off is quickly taken up by the lungs and passed from them to the blood stream. It is safe when properly handled.

Risks of poisoning with this substance occur both in its manufacture and when it is mixed with gasoline. Unless great care is taken there is also some danger involved in cleaning storage tanks which have contained such gasoline. Such storage tanks after a time contain a thick material on the bottom which contains many highly poisonous lead compounds.

According to Drs. David A. K. Cassells and Edward C. Dodds of London, the earliest symptoms in 25 cases of tetra-ethyl lead poisoning studied by them were disturbances of sleep and of digestion. The classical signs and symptoms of lead poisoning such as pain in the abdomen, trembling, painful muscles, neuralgia, constipation, paleness of the skin and certain changes in the red blood cells either did not occur or were a very minor part of the picture. By far the earliest sign was sleeplessness. Following shortly after this symptom there were loss of appetite, sickness to the stomach, vomiting and diarrhea. Irritability, restlessness, nervousness and anxiety were the next symptoms. At this stage the pulse was usually slow, the temperature below normal and the blood pressure was low.

As a rule it is not difficult to diagnose tetra-ethyl lead poisoning. The symptoms are fairly typical and in addition there is a history of exposure to lead. A determination of the amount of lead in the urine helps to give some ideas of the degree of exposure.

The dangers of working with etra-ethyl lead are well understood and the use of proper safeguards will help to prevent poisoning from this source.

Insofar as treatment is concerned, all that is needed in the milder cases is to remove the patient from contact with etra-ethyl lead, to have him take light exercise in the open air, to use a well-balanced diet with plenty of fluids and to relieve sleeplessness with one of the preparations used for this purpose, such as the barbiturates.

The treatment of severe cases requires strict nursing care, the giving of plenty of fluids and sedative or quieting drugs. Glucose, a sugar in salt solution, may be given by injection into a vein. Magnesium sulfate or one of the barbiturate preparations is used as a sedative. The giving of plenty of fluids aids in the elimination of the lead from the body. After severe exposure, it may require many months to get rid of the lead completely.

ITCH (Scabies) is Mighty unpleasant and will embarrass you like it or not at once. No pain comes in the itch-mite which is immune to ordinary treatment. RXSORA kills the itch-mite almost instantly. Only three days RXSORA treatment is required. At all GALLAHER DRUG STORES.

70,000 TREES WAVE AS WAR MEMORIAL

By The Associated Press

LOUDONVILLE, O., April 28—Some 70,000 new trees waved a memorial today to Ohio's dead of World War II following a ringing warning by Maj. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay that the United States is "beginning to follow" a path to World War III.

During ceremonies dedicating the 3,500-acre memorial forest donated to the state by the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs, the Army Air Forces deputy chief of air staff asserted those honoring the men who died to defend their nation should ask: "Will their sons have to die, too?"

The former director of the B-29 bombing raids of Japan asserted the reply to the question "depends upon us. If we follow the course we followed after World War I, the course we are beginning to follow again today, if we disarm and dissipate our military strength, the answer is 'yes'."

Accepting the forest as a state shrine for Ohio's 16,800 dead of World War II, Gov. Thomas J. Herbert said the memorial "must also be a constant reminder that we shall not have discharged our obligation to them until the objectives for which they fought and died have been achieved."

Mrs. Clarence Goldthorpe of Youngstown, state women's club federation president, said the idea for the forest originated with Mrs. L. L. Kinsey of Akron, and added, "perhaps it is just as well that today we feel the cold and the rain, and walk in mud, and are reminded of the hardships our men endured."

Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King concluded the ceremony with the prayer: "May God, in His infinite wisdom and mercy, grant that these dead shall not have died in vain."

Galion Railroader Stricken in Bucyrus

Special to The Star

GALION, April 28 — Roy H. Moser, 59, of Galion, passenger train brakeman-conductor for the New York Central railroad, died suddenly in Cleveland at 1:19 a. m. today. Cause of death was not immediately known here, but it is believed he was stricken with an attack similar to a stroke which he suffered about two years ago. He had been in good health, apparently, and was making ready to go out on his run to Indianpalos, Ind., from the Cleveland terminal, when death struck him there. He had been an employe of the railroad 30 years.

Born Nov. 21, 1887, in Lucas, he married Mable Bishop April 17, 1927. He was a member of First Lutheran church here, of the Eagles lodge and B. of R. T.

Surviving are his widow, and sisters, Mrs. Florence Gladen of Springfield and Mrs. Grace Mowry of Lucas.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. in the Volk funeral home here by Rev. Herbert S. Garnes Jr., pastor of the Lutheran church. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery, Galion. Friends may call at the funeral home after 10 a. m. Tuesday.

GREEN CAMP-MARION ROAD WORK SET

Resurfacing Project To Start Immediately.

A resurfacing project on state route 739 between Green Camp and Marion will begin immediately, according to an announcement today from Robert F. Werner, division engineer of the state highway department.

The four-mile stretch of highway will be reconstructed by the application of a three inch thick bituminous macadam surface pavement on top of the old pavement, the division engineer said. Earth shoulders will be raised to the elevation of the new pavement and seaded. Road officials report the old pavement is weak and breaking in many spots and the increased pavement thickness will meet present traffic requirements.

The work will be done by the Ohio Road Improvement Co of Columbus, awarded the contract at a price of $38,575.40. While construction is underway, the road section will be closed to traffic and a detour route established. Four to six weeks will be required for completion of the project, Mr Warner said.

$80,000,000 SCHOOL FUND O.K. EXPECTED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 28—The house finance committee is expected to approve today the $80,000,000 public school allotment as recommended by Gov. Thomas J Herbert and in so doing cue the education committee to cut the Daniels-Cramer school financing bill accordingly

The committee today started consideration of various amendments to reduce the $533,000,000 general appropriation measure by possibly more than $25,000,000.

The committee expects to report the big finance bill to the house for a final vote late in the week, and house leaders have scheduled a Friday session to act upon it.

The AFL and CIO have announced they will join forces in a mass demonstration Wednesday night when the house committee on industrial relations conducts a public hearing in the house chamber for opponents of five labor measures Proponents were heard last Wednesday.

The bills, termed "anti-union" by organized labor groups, would prohibit closed or union shops and otherwise prescribe drastic regulations for labor organizations

In Memory

Of Sgt. Harmon Chapman, killed in action on Okinawa, April 28, 1945.

His happy face and sunny smile
Are a pleasure to recall,
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.

Time may blot out many things,
But this it blots out, never,
The memory of those happy days
When we were all here together.

Some day we'll meet, we know not when,
We'll clasp his hand
In that Better Land.
Then we'll be all together again.

PILES ARE NEVER "MILD"

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of (hemorrhoids) as a mild disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves; instead, they are likely, if neglected to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling and general nervous irritability.

Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed bids will be received by the Safety-Service Director of the City of Marion, Ohio, at his office in the City Building until twelve o'clock noon on May 5, 1947, and at that time and place publicly opened and read, for the construction of the following improvements:

(a) A sanitary and storm water sewer in Patten Street from Greenwood Street to the first alley west of Patterson Street,

(b) A sanitary sewer in Patterson Street from East Mark Street to Patten Street with an outlet section from Greenwood Street to Patterson Street.

Separate bids will be received for each of the two improvements.

The total work for which bids are invited consists of the construction of approximately 689 linear feet of 8 inch and 10 inch double line sewer, and approximately 1350 linear feet of 8 inch single line sewer with vitrified shale sewer pipe, together with manholes, catch basins, house laterals, rock excavation, replacing pavement, etc.

Copies of the advertisement, information for bidders, estimated quantities, contract, specifications and performance bond are on file in the office of the City Engineer and available for inspection by prospective bidders.

Each bid must contain the full name of every person, or company interested in the same, and be accompanied by a certified check on a solvent bank in the sum of $100.00 made payable to the order of the Safety-Service Director of the City of Marion, Ohio, as a guarantee that if the bid is accepted, a contract will be entered into and its performance properly secured. The check shall be forfeited if the said bidder fails to enter into a contract with the City of Marion, Ohio, and to furnish the required bond within fifteen days after notice of acceptance of his bid. Bidders are required to use the printed forms which will be furnished on application.

Bids for labor and material must be separate.

Bids must be presented in sealed envelopes, plainly marked, "Bid for Patten Street" or "Bid for Patterson Street," according to contents.

A performance bond of 50% of the amount of the contract with a satisfactory corporate surety, will be required for the faithful performance of the work.

Should any bid be rejected, the accompanying check will be returned to the bidder forthwith, and should any bid be accepted, the check will be returned upon the proper execution and securing of the contract.

The right is reserved by the City of Marion, Ohio, to reject any or all bids.

ILLNESS IS FATAL TO MISS WATKINS

Marion Resident 34 Years Dies on Silver Street.

Miss Johanna Cramer Watkins, 80, died in her home at 458 Silver street at 7:10 p. m. Saturday after an illness of a few days.

Born Jan. 10, 1867, in Hancock county, she was a resident of Marion 34 years and was a member of First Wesleyan Methodist church.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Florence Livingston of the Silver street address, and a niece, Mrs. D. L. Switzer of Toledo. Her father, Adam Cramer, and her mother, Mrs. Rosanna Crates Cramer Watkins, preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at 1 p. m. in the Wesleyan Methodist church by Rev. Dennis Matherlee, pastor. Burial will be in Bishop cemetery at Arlington, O. The body was removed from the Edwin K. Smith Home for Funerals on East Center street to the residence where friends may call until Tuesday noon, then at the church.

36 Injured in Train Wreck in California

By The Associated Press

ONTARIO, Calif., April 28 — Thirty-six persons were injured, three seriously, when the Southern Pacific's New Orleans-bound Argonaut passenger train struck a broken rail at Guasti, four miles east of here, last night.

Only the locomotive, two baggage cars and the last two pullmans of the 18-car train stayed on the track.

The side of one coach, the fourth behind the baggage cars, was sheared away by another car but only three passengers were seated on that side of the aisle, railroad men said.

M. A. Nugent, assistant superintendent, who reported a broken rail was responsible for the accident, said the train was running about 60 miles an hour at the time.

• • •

WARSAW, Ind., April 28—Only four persons were hurt seriously enough to require hospital attention as the ten cars of the Golden Triangle limited passenger train of the Pennsylvania railroad left the tracks at a crossover in the center of Warsaw this morning. All of the 147 passengers were shaken up. The double line of rails was torn up for about four blocks.

FILING DEADLINE NOTED

Charles H. Kent Found Dead at Bucyrus Home

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 28—Charles H. Kent, 65, was found dead at his home here, where he lived alone, Sunday. Coroner C. R. Hackley of Galion said he had probably died Thursday.

He leaves a sister, Mrs. Samuel Pinder of Bucyrus. He came here from Attica in 1920 and worked as a laborer. He was born at Attica April 23, 1882, son of George W. and Nancy Mustard Kent.

He married Flossie Cummins Nov. 9, 1922. She died in July, 1942. Funeral services were held at Wise Funeral home this afternoon at 2, Rev. Weaver Keeder of the Church of Christ officiating. Burial was made in Nevada cemetery.

Heavy Frost Hits As Temperature Falls To 30 Degrees

Temperatures in Marion and central Ohio, as well as in neighboring states, plummeted to below freezing early today, but a rapid recovery was predicted with rising temperatures throughout the day.

The mercury in Marion slumped from a high of 62 yesterday to a low of 30 this morning, bringing with it heavy frosts. At noon today temperatures had climbed to 46. Last night's frost was not believed to have caused any damage to spring crops or fruit trees, the county agricultural office reported.

According to The Associated Press Cadillac, Mich., reported a low of 16 today. Pellston, Mich., reported 26 and Chicago broke its record for the date with 29.6. The previous low there was 32.7 on April 28, 1945.

Considerable frost accompanied the cold in the lower Great Lakes region, but the season has been so backward that not much damage was done to young buds.

Warmer weather was reported over the plains states, with minimum readings of 50 or better in Nebraska and Kansas.

A quick warmup was in store for the Midwest today, with rising temperatures reaching the Atlantic states tomorrow.

EARL J. PFOUTS, VIOLIN TEACHER, DIES IN EAST

Former Bucyrus Resident Stricken in Philadelphia.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 28—Earl J. Pfouts, 65, formerly of Bucyrus, professor of violin at Girard college in Philadelphia, Pa., 29 years, died in a hospital there Sunday noon. He had suffered a heart attack. His wife, the former Miss Lela Brinkman of Bucyrus, had just returned Saturday to Philadelphia from Bucyrus where she was called ten days ago by the sudden death of her father, Edward Brinkman, former Crawford county commissioner.

A native of Bucyrus, Mr. Pfouts married Helen Carpenter, a concert pianist, who accompanied him on his violin concert tours which he had made at various times throughout this country, the Panama Canal zone and Canada. She died in March, 1944. His marriage to Lela Brinkman was Dec. 22, 1943.

Having studied at Oberlin college and in Belgium, Mr. Pfouts played formerly with the New York symphony orchestra, and was first violinist with the Philadelphia symphony orchestra.

Surviving with his widow are nieces and nephews.

The body was to be cremated and the ashes sent to Bucyrus for burial at a later date.

DIAMOND

"Jock," who now lives in Garland, Tex.

Mrs. McLean then, as on most of the occasions on which she entertained, wore the famous Hope diamond, a 44½ carat stone with strange and beautiful blue lights.

Said to have been stolen from the forehead of a Hindu idol, legend has it that the gem brought violent death or misfortune to at least six of its owners, among them Mme. De Montespan, Louis XVI and Lord Francis Pelham Clinton.

Although she professed not to believe the story of the curse, Mrs. McLean had the stone blessed by a priest shortly after she acquired it in Paris about 1912 from Pierre Cartier.

Her Favorite Jewel

It was her favorite jewel, but she would never permit her children to touch it, especially after her son, Vinson, was killed in a traffic accident at the age of 10.

Mrs. McLean reputedly paid $180,000 for the diamond but is said to have refused offers up to $2,000,000 for it. Although the value of such a stone is determined by its price on the current market, the inheritance taxes on it today would make it a dubious bequest—even barring the curse.

Besides John, another son, Edward Beale, McLean Jr. survives.

Her husband died in 1941. He had been a patient in a sanitarium near Baltimore.

Disputed College Room "Boycotted" by Co-eds

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 28 — Pending the outcome of a conference today between a student committee and President Harold L. Yochum over student grievances, co-eds at Capital university "boycotted" the reception room at Trautman hall.

The boycott was reported to have been in protest against a new school rule denying male students use of the reception room. University officials said they barred men from the room because they tracked in mud and damaged furniture.

Winners of contest awards were Lois Oberdier, Mrs. Dunkin and Flora Alt. Assisting Mrs. Barth were Elvida Harris, Wave Jones and Mary Dutton.

Missionary To Indians Will Speak Wednesday

Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Emanuel Baptist church, there will be a special missionary service. Mrs. George L. Moore, missionary to the Navajos Indians in New Mexico and Arizona, will be present. With Mrs. Moore will be a native Navajo girl, Lola Pinto Begay. Miss Begay will be attired in her native costume.

Among more than 50,000 Navajo Indians living on the deserts of New Mexico and Arizona, there are over 14,000 boys and girls of school age who cannot speak English and have never been in school. These Indians are living as they did hundreds of years ago. "The sad, heart rending reality of this condition is that these Indians are worshipping in ignorance the mythical Sun God, and do not know the true and living God. They are a neglected, forgotten and needy people," those interested in their welfare declare. Mrs. Moore will tell of "efforts to reach these folk for Christ."

The public is invited to this service, it was announced. Rev. O. G. Lewis, the Gospel artist who has been in various churches in Marion in the past as an evangelist, is a promoter of the Navajo Indian Gospel crusade of which Mrs. Moore and Miss Begay are representatives.

Autopsy Performed On Mansfield Girl's Body

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., April 28—An autopsy on the body of 17-year-old Mariam Frances Goetz, who died last night in General hospital after a week of unconsciousness, was performed today, Prosecutor Theodore Lutz disclosed.

The results have not been announced.

Miss Goetz and 23-year-old Virgil Harden, Mansfield cab driver, were found unconscious in Harden's cab parked in the factory district.

Prosecutor Lutz said today carbon monoxide poisoning had been ruled out as a death cause. He said physicians had treated Miss Goetz for drug poisoning, but added there was no definite evidence drugs caused her death.

Harden, said Lutz, still is confined to his home by illness, and declares he has no knowledge of what happened after the couple parked. Harden was quoted by the prosecutor as saying the couple parked April 18. The couple was found April 20.

Coroner Says Baby's Death Due to Beating

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., April 28—Coroner Paul Hohly last night said he was convinced that the death seven weeks ago of Gerald Gleason, 2, brother of James Gleason, 4, whose bruised body was found Friday morning in his crib, also was caused by a beating.

An autopsy which followed Gerald's death March 3 listed meningitis as the cause of death. Dr. Frank G. Kreft, who since died, was coroner at that time.

"Yesterday I received a full laboratory report of the case and I am of the opinion that a wrong conclusion was reached in the cause of death," Coroner Hohly said.

Meanwhile, a six-state search for Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lehaney, the latter's daughter, Wilma, 16, and their adopted son, Gerald, 5, in whose home Mrs. Virginia Gleason and her children boarded continued unsuccessfully.

Bucyrus Ball Team Has Two Games on Schedule

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 28—Unless more rain makes the diamond unfit for play Bucyrus High school hardballers will go to Willard Tuesday for a northeastern district tournament tilt. Weather permitting the locals were to go to Upper Sandusky this afternoon for the first Northern Ohio league contest.

Previous dates on both contests were rained out.

The track squad also has an event coming up on this week's calendar, going to Upper Sandusky to meet the Rams in a meet Tuesday afternoon.

RITES AT BUCYRUS

BUCYRUS, April 28 — Rites were conducted in Holy Trinity Catholic church this morning for Mrs. Elizabeth Bertha Barclz, 72, wife of Andrew Barclz, who died in City hospital Friday after being ill only two days.

lot and immediately took the chair. Prince Faisal Al Saud of Sauda Arabia, Andrei A. Gromyko of Russia, Herman Santa Cruz of Chile, Lester B. Pearson of Canada and Herman G. Eriksson of Sweden each received one vote.

Asks Formal Recognition

The session convened at 10:14 a. m. with the official Jewish Agency declaring itself absent unless it is formally recognized.

Without the usual formalities, the delegates of the 55 nations plunged immediately into the task of electing officers and setting up committee machinery.

Frank Begley, UN security officer, said there had been no reports of incidents or demonstrations. Fernand van Langenhove, Belgian delegate to the security council, presided as temporary president.

Warren R. Austin, U. S. delegate, and Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, gave identical answers when asked separately about their positions on the Palestine question.

"No Comment," Say Both

"I have no comment on that now," they both replied.

Shortly before the assembly convened a spokesman said the Jewish agency felt it "inappropriate to attend" until the delegates of the 55 member nations had acted on the agency's request for official recognition as a non-voting participant.

The UN previously had set aside 20 seats for representatives of the agency in the observers' section, but these were left vacant.

CHILDREN CAUSE OF TWO FIRES HERE

One Plays with Matches, Another a Cigaret Lighter.

Children playing with fire caused two blazes Sunday and Monday. Two other fires, neither resulting in serious damage, were reported over the weekend.

Firmen said a fire in the garage of Carroll Plumley of 111 West Walnut street Sunday at 7 p. m. was caused by John Plumley, 9, who was playing with matches. The side and roof of the structure were burned, with an estimated $20 loss.

Danny Straw, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Straw of 849 Bennett street set a bedroom at his home on fire, Chief Owen A. Sifritt said, while playing with a cigaret lighter this morning. The bedding and part of the bed and wall were destroyed with an approximate $100 loss.

A call was answered at the home of Stanley Sharp of 545 Bartram street Saturday at 3:45 p. m. when a oil stove in the kitchen exploded. Mrs. Sharp picked it up and threw it out the door, firemen said. Loss was estimated at $10.

Burning grease under the kitchen stove at Frank and Jennie's restaurant at 492 West Center street resulted in a call for firemen Sunday at 2:30 p. m. There was no loss.

EMPLOYERS' REPORTS ARE DUE WEDNESDAY

Marion and other Ohio employers subject to the Ohio unemployment compensation law today were reminded by Dale Dunlfon, administrator of the Ohio bureau of unemployment compensation, that midnight Wednesday is the deadline for filing payroll and contribution reports for the first quarter of 1947.

Employers in Marion, Morrow, Union, Delaware and Wyandot counties who wish assistance with their reports are instructed to contact G. C. McCreight, auditor, through the local bureau of unemployment compensation - Ohio state employment service office, in their respective counties.

More than 64,300 employers in the state are subject to the unemployment compensation law. Their contributions go into the state's unemployment compensation fund. Contributing employers, whose number is now at the highest peak in the history of the bureau, include in general, all business establishments with three or more employes on their payroll.

Approximately 50 per cent of the contribution reports have been submitted to date, Mr. Dunlfon said. Report forms were mailed several weeks ago to all employers in the state known to be liable for contributions to the unemployment compensation fund.

CONSIDER WAGE ISSUES AT MARYSVILLE PLANT

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, April 28—Negotiations between representatives of three AFL unions and the H. B. Salter Manufacturing Co. here will be resumed May 8, following a meeting Thursday night at which no settlement or agreement could be reached regarding a general wage increase for employes.

The Salter company made an offer to raise the wages of those employes in the lower wage brackets, but the union representatives did not consider the raise sufficient to settle negotiations, a spokesman said.

The company stated it was unable to consider a general wage increase at this time due to serious cut-backs in its backlog of orders and the reduction in prices of plumbing goods caused by a stagnant market.

The unions representing polishers, buffers, platers, molders and machinists approved a formal strike vote March 22. At that time they asked for a 25 per cent increase in wages of daily workers and a 10 per cent increase in piecework wages.

Bucyrus High Adds Golf to Sports List

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 28 — The sports list was expanded to Bucyrus High school this week when a golf team was added to school sports. Although no official coach has been appointed one of the members of the faculty will serve as advisor.

A four match schedule has been set up to include games with Norwalk, and Shelby both at home and away.

The team is headed by Jim Gallant, caddymaster at the local club and last year a contender for the president's cup. Others are Gene Cress, Ray Neuman, Sheldon Atkinson, Larry Morton, Blair Ruhl, Andy Cox, Fritz Michael and Joe Oppenlander.

SETS RAIL RECORD

BUCYRUS—Setting a record for movement of railway cars on the New York Central railroad through Bucyrus, a total of 1,023 cars passed through the city last Tuesday. Thirty-one trains moved over the division, 13 arriving and 16 leaving. Eighty per cent of the shipments were coal.

MARION CUBS DUMP LIMA 8-2 IN OPENING DAY VICTORY

Edington Pitches Five-Hitter As Bobzean, Burbrink Punish Ball

Last 2 Innings Played Under Lima Protest Over Disputed Run; Locals Home Tuesday.

By DON C. BURTON

The Marion Cubs showed all around class behind the fine pitching of Marion's John Edington and won their first opening day game in four years by defeating the Lima Terriers at Lima yesterday afternoon 8 to 2 before 2,775 chilled fans.

Gene Bobzean and Manager Nelson Burbrink led the hitting for the Cubs, getting seven of the 10 hits off Lima pitchers, southpaw Sandy and Kubik, a righthander.

Bobzean, the lanky Cub shortstop, grabbed four hits in five trips to the plate and smote a long drive to center on his other trip. Gene climaxed his good day with a mighty home run over the centerfield wall in the ninth with a mate aboard. Burbrink got three for five including a double and hit the ball hard on his other two chances.

Springfield And Richmond Join Locals in Wins

By The Associated Press

Springfield, Marion and Richmond got off to a flying start with slambang hitting victories in the Ohio State baseball league Sunday as rain postponed the opener between Zanesville and Newark.

Displaying championship form, Springfield overwhelmed Dayton 10 to 3, bombarding three Dayton pitchers for 18 hits at Springfield before a paid attendance of 1,978. Third baseman Carl Hosler slammed a homer in the third with two of his Springfield mates on base.

Muncie, Ind., new member of the league, was unable to cope with the one-hit pitching of Ken St Pierre of the Richmond, Ind., Roses. Richmond won the opener on its home grounds 4 to 1. Cool, windy weather held the opening day attendance at Richmond to 1,559.

Bucyrus Cage Bookings Show Two Less Games

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 28 — Two less games than were scheduled last year are on the slate for the 1947-48 basketball squad of Bucyrus High school, according to the game schedule released today by school officials.

The 17 games include eight home contests and nine away. Tiffin Columbian will come here Dec. 5 for the opener. Other games scheduled are as follows: Dec. 9, at Marion St. Mary; Dec. 12, Shelby; Dec. 16, at Crestline; Dec. 19, at Galion; Jan. 2, Upper Sandusky; Jan. 6, Marion Harding; Jan. 9, Galion; Jan. 13, at Shelby; Jan. 16, at Willard; Jan 23, Crestline, Jan 30, at Bellevue; Feb. 3, Willard, Feb 6 at Norwalk; Feb. 13, Madison, Feb. 17, at Marion Harding, Feb. 20, at Upper Sandusky.

AUTO RACES RAINED OUT

Planned auto races at Berea yesterday were not held because of rain. A car owned by Chevington Auto Sales of Marion was entered. The races have been rescheduled for next Sunday.

Off To Good Start

Marion got off to a one run lead in the first stanza when Wiebel walked with one gone. Bobzean sent him to third with a single and Mel scored when Burbrink sent a screaming liner over third base.

The Terriers tied it up in the bottom of the first inning. Sunblad was safe at first when Edington dropped an assist from Forbes. He advanced to second on a passed ball as the next batter struck out and scored on a double by Maisch. Lima went ahead in the bottom half of the sixth on a walk to Maisch and a triple by Breslin.

Marion Wins in 7th

Marion won the ball game in the seventh, scoring five runs on four hits with the aid of a base on balls and three errors by the Lima infield. Forbes went to second, after Kowlaski threw over first base on his grounder and scored when Nichols let Myers' roller go through him. Edington then singled and went to second on the throw to third. With runners on second and third, Sandy purposely passed Bevens to fill the bases. The strategy backfired when Wiebel shot a single to center scoring Meyers and Bobzean dumped one in front of the plate for a hit plating Edington.

Huddleston then booted a roller from the bat of Scavo for a run. Burbrink drove his hopper to short on which Wiebel scored the later disputed run. Forbes up for the second time grounded out to end the inning.

Two More in Ninth

Marion got two more runs in the top of the ninth on a walk to Wiebel and a home run by Bobzean over the center field fence.

The Cubs will play in Lima again tonight with William Rosin slated to go on the hill for Marion. Jim Regula, the tall pitcher from Mansfield, is expectpected to pitch the opener here tomorrow.

In the pre-game ceremonies the two teams marched to the flag pole. Emmett "Red" Ormsby, former American league umpire and now a White Sox scout, spoke briefly paying tribute to Babe Ruth. Ormsby said Ruth was a credit to America and to baseball. He said he had worked hundreds of games in which Ruth played, during 15 years of umpiring. Mayor William L. Ferguson threw out the first ball.

THIS REMARKABLE action photo was made during the game between the Cincinnati Reds and the Chicago Cubs at Chicago. Catcher Ray Lamanno of the Reds slid under second baseman Johnson of the Cubs, who had received the ball from first base and tried for an unsuccessful double paly. The result looks like a pick-a-back ride.

Bambino Still Owns Yankee Stadium, Fans Demonstrate

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 28—Babe Ruth still "owns" the Yankee stadium.

Jake Ruppert is gone and Ed Barrow has been supplanted in the glistening Larry MacPhail era but the Babe still holds full title in the hearts of the folks who pay the way.

Walking slowly up the steps of the New York Yankee dugout yesterday afternoon into full view of the 58,339 "Babe Ruth Day" fans, the 52-year-old Bambino was greeted by a thunderous roar that must have been heard in Hoboken.

Most of the waistline bulge had melted under the strain of 82 days in a hospital after his serious neck operation and his heavy voice had faded to a husky half-whisper that tugged at the heart strings.

Same Old Babe

It was still the same old Babe, putting in a plug for "the kids," his ever-faithful public, and boosting baseball as "the only real game in the world" in short, broken sentences and a faltering voice that brought tears swimming to the eyes of his listeners in "the house that Ruth built."

The greatest home run hitter the game ever produced stood a few feet away from the batters' box from which he used to bombard the bleachers. He was surrounded by such dignitaries as Francis Cardinal Spellman, Commissioner A. B. Chandler and Presidents Will Harridge of the American league and Ford Frick of the National league who already had finished their brief talks.

"You know how bad my voice sounds," he started, "well, it feels just as bad." And he went on from there to tell 14-year-old Larry Cutler, of a Bronx American Legion team, "you've got to start from way down at the bottom . . . and if you're successful and you try hard enough, you're bound to come out on top just like these fellows."

Young Cutler, representing the boys with whom Ruth will work under the Ford Company's Legion baseball plan, had hit a popular keynote when he said, "just be able to tell Babe Ruth how proud we are to have him back in baseball—back where he belongs—and to know that he is going to be with us kids, well that's the biggest and best thing that could happen."

Receives Legion Plaque

The Babe received a plaque from the American Legion bearing a raised image of himself and the signatures of all the club presidents. The National league gave him a leather book containing the signatures of all the players in the circuit dedicated "to Babe Ruth whose batting average through the years is exceeded only by the size of his heart."

Ruth rode up to the park in a shiny new Lincoln which he had received as a gift.

When the Babe finally left the game, just before Washington pushed over a run to win 1-0, he had to be protected by a cordon of police from the crowd which jammed the aisles and forgot the ball game trying to snake his hand or pat his back.

It was the Babe's day—not only at Yankee stadium, but in many other ball parks throughout the country where Ruth day was observed.

GIRLS', BOYS' TRACK MEETS SCHEDULED

The county track schedule this week calls for action by both sexes.

Wednesday a county girls' track meet is scheduled at Pleasant and Thursday a meet is scheduled between Kirkpatrick, Caledonia, Prospect, and Morral at Prospect.

Nine events are planned for the girls' meet. They are the 60-yard dash, 100-yard dash, 150-yard dash, 240 relay, 440 relay, broad jump, discus throw, shotput, and high jump.

The meet Thursday will be the last before the county track meet a week from Wednesday.

Of the schools who will participate only Kirkpatrick has not run in a meet this spring. Caledonia by virtue of its record to date will be the favorite to cop the event.

They have run in three track meets this spring and have outpointed every county school they have run against, including Prospect.

Morral, which was only slightly outscored by last year's champ, Prospect, may be able to show them some real competition and Kirk, still untried, may be able to give all of the teams present a rough time.

BAUMHOLTZ TOAST OF CINCY FANDOM

Rookie Breaks Up Games in 12th; Walters Wins Opener.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 28—The toast of Cincinnati Reds fandom today was Frankie Baumholtz, personable young outfielder who took leave of professional basketball this spring determined to become a major league baseball player or throw spiked shoes out of his wardrobe.

Baumholtz singled home the winning run as Cincinnati won a 12-inning battle, 2-1, from Pittsburgh in the nightcap of a doubleheader here yesterday, after the Reds had grabbed the first game, 6-1, behind Bucky Walters' six-hit pitching.

A Babe Ruth day crowd of 36,961, largest gathering ever assembled at Crosley field for a baseball game, watched the Reds take a 1-0 lead in the third inning of the second game but Pittsburgh chased over a run in the seventh to knot the score.

The deadlock continued until the 12th, when Augie Galan, first up for Cincinnati, drew a pass and went to second on Clyde Vollmer's sacrifice. Eddie Miller was walked purposely, to set the stage for Baumholtz's bungle that brought Galan home.

Baumholtz, ex-Ohio university cage luminary who snakes the nets for the Cleveland Rebels in the wintertime, had gone hitless his first four times at bat in the second game. In the first, he got two safeties, one a double, in three trips and finished the day with .327 average.

Both pitchers went the route in the overtime second game. Johnny Hetki, the winner, gave the Bucs 10 hits, two more than the Reds got off Fritz Ostermueller, the veteran southpaw.

The only blow that hurt Walters, making his 1947 debut in the opener, was Eddie Basinski's fifth inning homer.

His teammates gave him a cozy four-run advantage in the first inning when they topped on Rip Sewell, the "blooper" specialist, for three singles. Bobby Adams, Galan and Eddie Miller delivered the base knocks. Basinski's error at second and a pass to Ray LaManno also figured in the scoring.

Ohio Wesleyan Relays Likely To Continue Despite Loop Rule

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 28—Despite an Ohio intercollegiate athletic conference rule against such events at member schools, there's a pretty good chance that the Ohio Wesleyan relays, outstanding scholastic track-field team event in the middle west, will be continued.

Wesleyan, which dropped out of the Ohio conference years ago to become a charter member of the now defunct Buckeye loop, has reentered the league and is now in its year of probation.

George Gauthier, Wesleyan's veteran and genial athletic director, who founded the relays 16 years ago, said some way would be found to get around the conference ruling, and H. W. Emswiler, state high school athletic commissioner, feels the same way.

Circumvented Saturday

The conference edict was circumvented on last Saturday's meet, won by Springfield's well-rounded Wildcats, because the high school association sponsored the event and named Gauthier as manager.

Should the conference decline to lift its ban, the scholastic association will continue to sponsor the team relays, and will name Gauthier to conduct them, Emswiler hinted.

The conference ruling was made because the league felt a sponsoring school would have the edge in attracting athletes to its campus from the high schools.

A number of high school coaches at Saturday's meet said, however, that not one of the boys had ever been approached by a coach at the meet.

"Won't Win Title"

Despite the Springfield victory in Saturday's event and the Columbus Central triumph in the Mansfield relays the week before, the state's high school coaches don't believe either the Wildcats or Pirates can take the state championship a Ohio State university late in May.

Each of the victors lack the all-around individual star strength the mentors decire, and they pick Cleveland Central and Cleveland East Tech to battle it out for the class A laurels, with Columbus Central and Springfield scoring enough points to make it interesting. Toledo DeVilbiss, defending class A king, isn't expected to threaten again.

Springfield 29½ Points

Springfield piled up 29½ points Saturday, with Cleveland East Tech and Columbus Central tied for second with 22, and Cleveland Central tied with DeVilbiss at 15.

Oak Harbor, two and one-half points behind Poland seminary with one event to go, sent its 880-yard relay team to victory to grab the class B title with 23¼ points. Poland finished second with 20 and Harpster and Springfield Township tied at 15.

Three team and three individual meet records were broken, the top performance being a 156-foot 11½-inch discus heave by Leo Dillon of class B Harpster, pushing the record up almost five feet.

WALDO SCORES IN WESLEYAN RELAYS

Several schools from Marion and Marion county were entered in the Wesleyan relays and all were shut out except Waldo. Waldo picked up one-half point in the pole vault event as performers Loyer, Salyer and Pickett turned in a 29 feet total to tie for fifth place with Oak Harbor winner of class B. Loyer vaulted 11 feet and Salyer and Pickett 9 feet each.

Greenberg, Mueller Let Tempers Flare at Game

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI April 28—Pittsburgh's Hank Greenberg, the big fellow who is expected to hit more homers than any other player in the major leagues, and Ray Mueller, Cincinnati catcher, dropped the reins on their tempers in the overtime nightcap of yesterday's twin bill.

In the 10th inning, after popping out to Mueller Greenberg "teed off" on the catcher's mask, lying on the ground, and sent it spinning almost to the Pirates dugout. The mask was so bent Mueller had to call time while he got another.

In the 12th, Greenberg grounded out—to give him a batting record for the day of no hits in seven trips.

Mueller picked up big Hank's bat and beat it on the ground several times. A distinct "crack" was heard.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By The Associated Press

Batting Vernon Stephens Browns batted in a run and scored another in St. Louis' 4-2 victory over Chicago in the first game of double header, homered with two on in eighth inning of nightcap to again defeat White Sox 4-3.

Batting, Jim Tabor Phillies—Drove in a run and scored another in Philadelphia's first game win over Boston 5-4, homered in last half of the ninth to again beat Braves by identical 5-4 score.

Pitching, Sid Hudson, Senators—Blanked the Yankees with eight hits and scored one run in Washington's 1-0 triumph.

Fans Ask, What's Wrong with Cards, Bosox?

By The Associated Press

What has happened to the Cards and Red Sox?

It is still a bit early for too much concern but already calamity howlers are pointing at the lowly position occupied by the defending champions in the current major league pennant races.

Instead of at least duplicating last year's early showing when they won nine of their first 11 games at this corresponding date, the Redbirds, in a complete about face, have dropped seven of their first nine starts against their western rivals to find themselves sharing a cellar berth with the New York Giants.

The Cardinals, from Spark Plug Stan Musial down, are not hitting their weight. In absorbing a 3-0 shutout at the hands of the Cubs in Chicago yesterday, the Redbirds climaxed a nine-game stretch during which they made only 58 hits on 290 times at bat for a meager .200 batting average. Not a single St. Louis player is hitting .300.

Although not as disappointing as the Cards, Boston's Red Sox have not looked at all like the club which swept aside all opposition in easy fashion last year.

The Sox had to come from behind to earn a standoff yesterday as rain halted the first game of a scheduled doubleheader with the Red Sox and A's deadlocked 6-6 at the end of nine innings. The second game was washed out. Trailing 6-5, the Sox tied the score in the last of the eighth on two hits and as many walks.

Although they spoiled Babe Ruth day for 58,339 fans at the Yankee Stadium by losing to Sid Hudson and the Washington Senators 1-0, the Yankees had the satisfaction of taking over first place from the Chicago White Sox, who dropped both ends of a doubleheader to the Browns at St. Louis 4-2 and 4-3.

The Dodgers, who have lost only once in their last 13 meetings with the New York Giants at Ebbets Field, climaxed an uphill battle with a run in the ninth to win 9-8.

Two former American league stars, Dutch Leonard and Schoolboy Rowe, pitched the Philadelphia Phils to identical 5-4 triumphs over the Boston Braves in Shibe Park. Ex-American leaguer Jim Tabor's ninth inning home run broke up the second game.

Rain forced the postponement of the scheduled Detroit-Cleveland contest.

SLOW MARKET IN MODERATE RECOVERY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 28—Stocks generally lifted moderately toward recovery today although many leaders faltered and dealings were among the slowest of the year

A little professional bidding here and there was credited to the improved labor outlook, in addition to a batch of good earnings and dividends.

From the start the ticker tape frequently halted Fractional advances were in the majority near the fourth hour but top gains were reduced

Ahead at one time or another were Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler (following a union agreement), General Motors, Goodyear American Telephone (on hopes for settlement of the strike), American Smelting, General Electric, Johns-Manville, J C. Penney, Santa Fe American Tobacco "B" and Phelps Dodge

Inclined to loiter were N Y. Central, Great Northern Railway, Union Pacific, North American, Schenley Anaconda Du Pont, Philip Morris Westinghouse and Caterpillar Tractor

Former Pennsylvania Agent Here Stricken

Funeral services were to be held today in Tiffin for George Marvin Knauer, 74, a retired employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad and a former resident of Marion.

He started his career as a telegraph operator at Atlantic City, N. J., and went to Tiffin in 1901 as agent. He was then agent in Marion for 12 years, from 1908 to 1920, and then in Toledo until he returned to Tiffin in 1927, remaining there until his retirement in 1937 While in Marion, the family resided on Girard avenue.

Surviving are two sons, Nathan and Arthur of Toledo. The body is to be taken to Enon Valley, Pa., for burial.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

"It must be Philip," I told my father. "Olina couldn't possibly have gone to the school, collected Faith and brought her home by this time."

"No, I suppose not," he said, and there was keen disappointment in his eyes and in his voice, for he cherishes each moment he has with our small daughter, his favorite grandchild, I know, although he tries hard not to let Junior guess his preference.

Accustomed Lines

The next instant Philip Veritzen came into the room, and my father's face instantly fell into its accustomed lines of strict attention to the problem at hand.

"You were able to get what I wanted?" he asked the husband of Olga, exiled queen of Transvania, from whom he expected such vital information in aid of the espionage problem which was confronting him.

"I think everything is here," Philip said, handing a large envelope to my father. "The names and addresses you wanted are here, and also the three notes, signed with her name and title, and sealed with her royal seal. Her only delay was in finding that," he added with a little smile. "She had thought she never would have to use it again, and had put it away in so secure a place that at first she could not recollect where it was.

"But she will keep it nearer at hand now," he went on, and my father interrupted him summarily.

Spencer Explains

"Don't let her do that," he said. Then, as Philip's eyebrows began to ascend, he explained.

"There's too much chance of its being stolen," he said. "Believe me, I know what I'm saying. It's after banking hours, so there's no chance of getting it into your own safety deposit box before morning."

"There's the hotel safe," the owner of the Lansfield said pridefully. "Jewels and cash to the value of many thousands are there all the time."

"Not good enough," my father said, "unless a special cordon of guards is put on, and I don't want any precaustions taken just now that will call atention to the hotel. But Gus and two guards, with the armored car, are waiting my telephone call to come after me. They brought me up here. If Olga will trust me with the signet ring, I will put it into my own safe at the hideway until you can arrange for its transfer to your own safety deposit box."

Familiar Icy Finger

The familiar icy finger touched my spine again.

If my father were being guarded in wartime fashion, then there was danger here at home as well as in the far distant South American country. And his anxiety to guard Olga's signet ring must mean that he feared some one would try to get it and use it fraudulently to contact some of her still loyal subjects in Transvania who would believe nothing save herself in person, her handwriting and signature, or the impress of her signet ring.

Philip was speaking again, and I put away my conjectures to listen him.

"If she will trust you!" he was saying dramatically. "You should know there is no 'if' about it. If you do not need me here any more, I will go directly upstairs, get the ring, and bring it down to you."

"That will be fine," my father said "I do not need you here any more. Now, please believe me that I am not being melodramtic in what I have to say next. Dicky, keen, her hands too eager, to keep

Kept Lips Closed

I was sitting on the edge of my chair by this time, but I kept my lips tightly closed.

"Mine is locked in a wall safe behind the bathroom mirror," Dicky said "Faith' eyes are too briefly, and I wondered where, it anywhere except under lock and key But I can get it in less than a minute.

"I'm carrying mine," Jack said briebly, and I wondered where, then concluded it must be held in the belt of his trousers by a suspender trap.

"Then," my father said, "will you two boys go up with Philip and escort him down again with the ring" There isn't one chance in a million of trouble, but I'm not taking that one chance."
